Youth, 18, Drowns In Reservoir

Swim Party Ends In Tragedy

ASHLAND — An after-threshing swim in the reservoir a mile east of Nova yesterday brought death to William Russell Chacey, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Chacey, of Polk, R. D. 1.

The Chacey youth drowned at 5:15 p. m. before nine swimming companions could reach him. It had not been determined today whether the youth was stricken with cramps. His body was recovered at 6:40 p. m. at the bottom of the nine-foot-deep reservoir, Ashland County Sheriff M. F. Rickenbrod said.

There were 10 youths in the swimming party, the sheriff said. He identified the three who recovered the body as Bill Hostettler, George Kerr and James Highman.

Dr. H. M. Gunn, Ashland county coroner, returned a verdict of death by drowning and is continuing his investigation. According to the sheriff.

The rescuers towed a raft attached to their rowboat to the spot where the body had been located at the bottom of the reservoir. Diving enabled the youths to reach the body but their first attempt to raise it proved futile. It was brought to the surface on the second try, Rickenbrod said.

Deputies from the sheriff's office went to the scene after receiving a call at 5:30 p. m. After the body was recovered deputies used artificial respiration methods for an hour before the victim was pronounced dead.

The victim was a lifelong Ashland county resident. He was born near Ashland on Dec. 11, 1930. He attended Polk public school and was a member of the Mt. Pleasant church.

Surviving, in addition to his parents, are three brothers, John of Ashland, R. D. 1, and Ralph jr. and Alvin, both at home and five sisters, Miss May Chacey and Mrs. Vernon Martin, both of Ashland, and Eldora, Ruth and Martha, all at home.

Services will be at 2 p. m. Saturday from the Heyl funeral home here with Rev. Mrs. H. B. Falor, Marion pastor who formerly served Mt. Pleasant church, officiating. Burial will be in Nankin cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home tonight.

Bomb Hits Envoy's Car

PRAGUE — (INS) — A bomb exploded early today in the vacant automobile of U. S. Assistant Air Attache Capt. John Childs outside his home in Prague but no one was hurt.

The explosion broke windows in nearby houses.

Childs said he went to bed late last night and awakened by an explosion exactly at midnight. He said he was not worried by the blast but went out to investigate.

"My car appeared to have exploded." he said.

Childs added that he found a crowd already gathered around the smashed vehicle but saw no policemen.

Police investigating the case said afterward they found some sort of a "makeshift bomb" which had been placed at the right hand side of the vehicle below the radiator.

The explosion climaxed recent tampering with cars bearing foreign registry plates in Prague.

If Your News-Journal Is Late . . .

If your News-Journal is late today, here's why: a power outage, caused by a flooded transformer on North Walnut street, cut off electricity to all departments of the newspaper at 11:27 a. m. Lack of power stopped all typesetting machinery, all teletypes for receiving wire news, and paralyzed the stereotyping and press room equipment. Even after power was restored at 12:25 p. m., some time was required to heat the chilled electric metal pots on the linotype machines so that type could again be set for today's issue.

Margaret Mitchell Injured

ATLANTA — (AP) — Margaret Mitchell, the little southern lady who made the high courage of a lost cause into "Gone With the Wind," was nearly killed last night by a speeding car.

Police said the quiet, 43-year-old author of the fabulous romance of the war between the states was knocked to the pavement by a drunken taxi-driver and dragged 15 feet.

She was taken to City hospital where physicians and nurses said she was too gravely hurt to be moved even for X-rays.

Margaret Mitchell

She was placed under an oxygen tent and was given a blood transfusion early today after her blood pressure fell. Attendants said she responded satisfactorily.

Hospital attendants made it plain that Miss Mitchell would need a stout heart—as stout as the one she gave Scarlett O'Hara — to pull through.

Miss Mitchell—in private life she's Mrs. John Marsh—received a possible skull fracture, internal injuries, and an injury to her right leg. Her face was badly bruised.

SKULL INJURED

A close family friend said an interne told her blood had run in a think, weak stream from Miss Mitchell's left ear, normally a sign of a skull fracture. A deep gash was inflicted along the base of her skull.

After nearly four hours of unconsciousness, the novelist was able to mutter, though incoherently, when internes queried, "Peggy"?

Another friend said Miss Mitchell and her husband were enroute to a neighborhood theater to see the British film "A Canterbury Tale" when she was hit.

Her husband, victim of a heart ailment for several years, said he was about a step behind his wife. Otherwise he, too, would have been injured.

Police charged the taxi driver —28-year-old Hugh D. Grayett —with drunken driving, speeding and driving on the wrong side of the street.

Bus Driver Under Fire

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., — (UP) — A passenger was to testify late today his statement that the driver of a Greyhound bus dozed off just before it crashed into a bridge and killed 16 persons.

Wilbert Luttrell, an Evansville, Ind., truck driver was called to testify at the inquest into the deaths. He told reporters that "for 15 or 20 minutes before the wreck I noticed the driver was getting groggy."

The driver, Wayne Cranmer, Indianapolis, denied that he was sleepy. He told the coroner's jury he thought a blow-out of the right front tire threw the bus into the abutment.

Coroner R. E. Lyons called Luttrell a "key-witness" and delayed the inquest so that he could testify.

The 16th victim of the crash, Dale E. Aikman, 30, a soldier from Camp Campbell, Ky., died yesterday. His wife and two small children died in the flames that enveloped the bus after the crash.

An investigation of the accident was hampered by the almost complete destruction of the bus. All four tires were burned away.

Indiana Girl Now Reigns As Queen

PITTSBURGH — (INS) — A 17-year-old beauty from Bluffton, Ind., today wore the crown of Junior Miss America.

Some 2,000 persons stuck to their seats throughout a heavy downpour in West View park in Pittsburgh yesterday to see curvy Carolyn Rudy selected from among 10 semi-finalists.

The queen of junior misses stands five-feet five, has blue eyes and brown hair. She sings, plays the piano and twirls a baton as well as filling a bathing suit fittingly.

German Publisher Visits N-J

He Likes U. S. Emphasis On 'Little Man'

By DON MILLER

Readers of the Giessener Freie Presse, Giessen, Germany, will soon see some radical changes in their daily newspaper, Dr. Hans Rempel, publisher of the paper, declared today.

Dr. Rempel, currently visiting the Mansfield News-Journal to study American publishing methods, declared he intends to publish more stories concerning the "little man."

"That is what strikes me as the big difference between our German papers and the American papers," he said. "I am going to try to make the little man realize he is just as much a citizen as the big official."

Somewhat regretfully, Rempel added that "German papers have never printed the names of the masses, only so-called 'public figures'."

The publisher, speaking in cultured although heavily accented English, was emphatic in his praise of the American press and in the way German papers are allowed to print anything they deem fit.

"The occupation authorities exert no control over us," he declared. "If we want to we can even use the Russian news agency instead of any others."

Dr. Rempel added that German newspapers of democratic trend are having trouble right now in fighting former nazi publishers who have the capital to back their papers.

"Capital is the big problem," he said. "Ex-nazis have more money and are stronger than the democratic newspapers. The press should not be controlled by anyone, but the new German democratic newspapers haven't had time enough to gain the strength to go into competition with old nazi-owned plants."

PRAISES U. S. AID

The visiting publisher, loud in his praise of the Marshall plan which enabled his country to get back on its feet, said he felt the occupation authorities made a mistake in trying to start political parties too swiftly after the war.

"Germany should have had more time," he declared, "in order that political parties could have been built up from the bottom instead of from the top as they are now."

Rempel also expressed himself as being in favor of a United States of Europe, and said he believed the new Council of Europe which has headquarters at Strasbourg could solve European problems under good leadership.

"But the leaders would have to work for the good of all Europe and not just that of one particular country — their own," he added.

The publisher spoke for Berliners in praising the airlift, saying it was excellent proof of the ability of the American and English air forces.

RAPS APATHY

When questioned concerning the free elections to be held in Germany Aug. 14, Rempel rapped the apathy of the German people towards the election.

"I am sorry German people are not interested in the election," he frowned. "I believe part of the reason they do not take more interest is because of resentments which exist as an aftermath of the war."

Although he has visited large newspapers in Chicago, Baltimore and Providence, Rempel was more concerned with the operation of The News-Journal than with the others since his own paper is of a comparative size, operating in a town of 45,000 population.

"I admire the objective reporting of the American newspaper," he declared. "The reporters try to tell each thing as it happened instead of just telling one side."

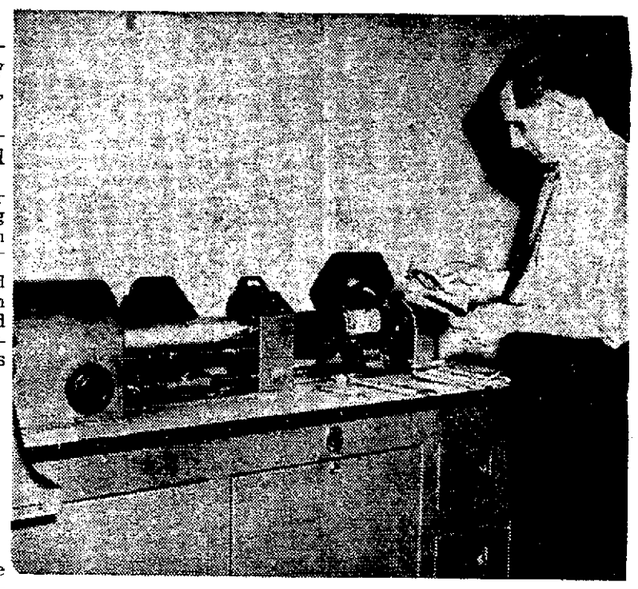
Rempel has talked with some of America's top public officials since he has been here, shaking hands with President Truman and questioning Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray.

The former German soldier (he served in Berlin throughout the war) will leave the United States Aug. 20 to rejoin his wife and two children in Giessen. He has a son, Christian, 7, and a daughter, Beate, 5.

A letter from his wife, Kathe, was waiting for Dr. Rempel when he reached the News-Journal. He will leave here Sunday evening to return to New York and await passage to Germany.

The visitor summed up America's attributes perhaps even better than any American could.

"It's the most important country in the world today," he declared.



GERMAN PUBLISHER—Shown checking up on the latest in newspaper equipment, Dr. Hans Rempel, publisher of the Giessener Freie Presse, Giessen, Germany, studies an engraving produced on the News-Journal's new Fairchilds engraving machine. The visitor reports more modern equipment is becoming available all the time in Germany, but financing the purchase is a problem for the smaller publishers.

Cut Victim Goes After Assailants

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Police combed Columbus today for three holdup men to save them from their victim.

Two patrolmen saw Willie Davis, 28, waving a bloody left hand into a pawn shop yesterday afternoon. He said three men jumped him in an alley, cut him with a razor and fled with $50 from his wallet.

He ran to the pawnshop to buy a gun and seek his money and a little revenge. He went to the hospital instead.

Local Plant Calls Back 550 Workers

Outlook Now Optimistic

Approximately 550 Westinghouse workers will be recalled to their jobs Aug. 22 when second-shift production of household refrigerators resumes, it was announced today by J. H. Ashbaugh, vice president in charge of the company's appliance division.

Increased employment also will affect the Springfield, Mass. "sister" plant where 300 workers will be recalled on the same date.

Most of the employes, Ashbaugh said, will be recalled for work on the refrigerator line.

He added that a step-up in production on griddles, pop-up and sandwich grills in the near future will bring back more employes. Production on the electric roaster - oven line, which began before the plant's recent two - weeks' vacation, will continue.

The call-back will raise the employment total at the plant to more than 3,600 when all production increases are in effect, Ashbaugh stated. All employes, reinstated on Aug. 22, will be recalled in order of their seniority.

Adding that the "immediate and longer term view point is more optimistic," Ashbaugh said factory inventories of household refrigerators at the local plant have been substantially reduced and that current production is moving from assembly lines directly into freight cars.

"This is a much improved situation over even a few weeks ago," he commented, "and, in addition, field stocks have also been reduced with increased consumer buying."

"The extended hot weather throughout the country and the availability of easier credit have been contributing factors in the public's return to a buying mood," he said.

Barkley Says He Likes Role Of 'Minstrel'

WASHINGTON — (INS) —Vice President Alben Barkley, a gay blade of almost seventy - three summers, says he is having a fine time doing what comes naturally and hopes to enjoy 30 or 40 years more of the same.

The blue - eyed, silver - haired VEEP has used up more energy than a houseful of kids on a rainy day since he became vice president in January.

He admits, with a puckish twinkle in his eye, that he is inclined to get drowsy if he stays out late several nights in a row. But, he says gaily, he loves being the wandering minstrel of the administration.

In addition to being a social lion and gallant, Barkley has managed to spread his famous Kentucky charm across the nation.

27 Escape As Plane Flames

PORTLAND, Me., — (AP) — A pretty and plucky stewardess was heroine of a Northeast airliner crash from which 27 persons escaped safely last night.

Miss Patricia Donnellan, 23, of North Quincy, Mass., a rookie at her job, calmly herded the passengers out a rear door—a scant two minutes before the plane was enveloped in flames on Portland Municipal airport.

The new, $400,000 Convair—from New York and Boston—was a total loss. Capt. Roderick Cote, 40, of Melrose, Mass., the pilot, said the propellers of the twin engined plane accidentally reversed 15 or 20 feet above the runway "and we started to plop straight down."

White House Silent

Vinson Also Won't Comment

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Senate "five per cent" probers are checking today on reports that the first lady of the land and Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson received deep freezers from a Chicago perfume company.

Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, President Truman's military aide, already has been named by a witness before the Senate investigating committee as having received a similar gift.

The inquiry is directed at reports that not only Mrs. Truman, Chief Justice Vinson and Vaughan, but James K. Vardaman, former naval aid to the President, and George E. Allen, White House playboy, were recipients of the perfume company's generosity.

DECLINES COMMENT

White House Secretary Charles G. Ross was asked to comment on the report that Mrs. Truman had received a deep freeze unit from the perfume company. Ross said:

"I have no information whatever about that."

Ross also was told that the names of Vinson and Vardaman likewise had been mentioned as deep freeze recipients. He said:

"I know nothing about that, either."

Vinson, after conferring with Mr. Truman at the White House, refused to deny or confirm the reports that he had been given a deep freeze.

The chief justice, betraying signs of emotion, told newsmen:

"I believe I would prefer that the matter be developed by the Senate investigation. I prefer to make no other comment."

Meanwhile, Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., a committee member, said:

"You can be sure the committee is investigating all angles of the deep freeze phase, including a letter of appreciation written to Gross (Albert Gross, Milwaukee business man who manufactured the freezers) by the wife of a very high government official."

Earlier "five per cent" testimony disclosed that John Maragon, intimate friend of Vaughan, is a one-time employe of the Chicago firm—the Albert Verley Perfume company.

Albert Gross testified at Thursday's committee hearing that Vaughan received one of a half dozen deep freezers sent to "high government officials or their wives."

Maragon's name has cropped up frequently along with Vaughan's in the committee investigation into alleged "influence peddling" in connection with government contracts.

President Truman stoutly defended Vaughan, his long-time friend, at his Thursday news conference.

Bradley To Head Staff

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Gen. Omar N. Bradley, now the nation's No. 1 military officer, still is an infantry "GI's general" at heart. But he believes that the core of the nation's defenses must be a powerful air force.

President Truman picked the quiet, unassuming Bradly yesterday as the first statutory chairman of the joint chiefs of staff. The Senate is expected to confirm him promptly.

Adm. Louis E. Denfeld was nominated at the same time for another two - year term as chief of naval operations and member of the joint chiefs of staff.

However, Mr. Truman deferred appointment of a successor to Bradley as army chief of staff. Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg is scheduled to continue as air chief of staff.

Selection of Bradley, who went to the top as a foot soldier, was praised by both the navy and air force as the best possible choice.

Bradley, now 56 years old, was dubbed the "GI's general" in World War II because of the personal interest he showed in the doughboys in his commands. He spent much time in the front lines with them.

OK's Nomination

WASHINGTON — (INS) —The Senate judiciary committee today voted nine to two to approve the nomination of Attorney General Tom Clark as an associate justice of the supreme court.

City Area Darkened

Short-Circuit Cuts Off Downtown Power

A six-block area in downtown Mansfield was plunged into darkness at 11:27 a. m. today when an over-taxed storm sewer on North Walnut street flooded a transformer and power cable at the rear of the W. T. Grant company. Power was restored at 12:21 p. m. to most of the area.

All electric power to homes and stores in the area, from the east side of North Mulberry to the west side of Main street and from West Third to West Sixth streets, was shut off.

The emergency halted all typesetting operations at The News-Journal and both incoming and outgoing messages at the Western Union office on North Main street.

Firemen from Central station were called to the rear of the Grant store when smoke poured from the transformer through the sidewalk grill and into the store basement. The transformer is located under the sidewalk at the North Walnut entrance to the store.

R. D. Iden, distribution superintendent of the Ohio Public Service company, said it was believed water leaked in through cracks along the curb and on the sidewalk and short-circuited a cut-off box in the transformer vault.

Iden said this caused three explosions, which alarmed pedestrians on North Walnut street.

Ohio Public Service company spokesmen said the damaged transformer would be removed and dried out. Meanwhile, it was by-passed to provide an emergency power supply.

Checks Richland County List

Crawford Jury Finds Voting Irregularity

A Crawford county grand jury probe of alleged irregularities in the May primary in Crestline showed today that at least one voter was registered both in Richland and Crawford counties.

The investigation was centered in Precinct B, Crestline.

Crawford County Prosecutor Leo J. Scanlon said the grand jury returned one secret indictment. Authorities have been unable to locate the person named in the indictment which charges illegal voting.

The Crawford county election board checked the Richland county registration lists and submitted its evidence to the grand jury in Bucyrus.

During its investigation, the Crawford county election board subpoenaed 24 voters from Precinct B in Crestline for questioning. Only 11 appeared and three others were excused.

Crawford County Sheriff Ralph Schreck was unable to locate 11 others who had voted at the primary. Ten of the 24 had given a Crestline hotel as their address.

Mayor A. P. Sonner of Crestline won renomination at the May primary with 561 votes against 480 for G. P. Weis and 87 for Howard Poltz. In Precinct B, Mayor Sonner received 170 votes, Weis 55, and Poltz 26.

Cash Found In Shorts

CHICAGO — (INS) — Jailers found $7,400 in $100 bills in Sigmund Engel's underwear shorts in his Cook county jail cell today.

Engel, arrested last June and charged with operating a confidence game, gained nationwide notoriety when it was disclosed that he bilked several wealthy women of their life savings.

The 74-year-old lover has been awaiting trial on the confidence game charges.

Sheriff Elmer Walsh ordered an immediate investigation into the finding of the money.

A large sum of money was found on Engel's person shortly after he was arrested and a detective assigned to guard him was relieved of his duty following an investigation. He later was reinstated.

2-Inch Rain Floods City

Streets Blocked By Heavy Storm

A two-inch rain deluged Mansfield between 9 a. m. and noon today, flooding streets and blocking the Park avenue east subway.

Water was more than two feet deep on North Franklin avenue between Fifth and Sixth streets and in other low-lying sections in the north end of the city. Scores of basements were flooded.

It was the heaviest rain here since early last spring and definitely ended the mild drought which had begun to worry farmers and gardeners.

The two-inch fall was reported at the Mansfield sewage treatment plant on Park avenue east. Only nine-tenths of an inch of rain was reported at the CAA station at Mansfield airport during the same period, indicating the storm was centered over Mansfield.

The city got some relief from the heat wave last night when a light shower fell and cool breezes blew in from the west.

Forecasters today said temperatures will be pleasant over the week end. More showers were seen probable for tonight and tomorrow. Today's noon temperature was 69 as compared with yesterday's high of 91.

The U. S. weather bureau's five-day forecast follows:

"Pleasant temperatures and lower humidity over the week end. Warming up first part of next week. Average two-to-four degrees above normal. Showers south portion of state Saturday and probably over the area on Tuesday, totaling about one-fourth to three-fourths inches."

Mansfield Entry One of Youngest In Big Akron Race

Confident Jimmy Finds Pre-Derby Fanfare Exciting

By FRED THARP
(News-Journal Sports Editor)

AKRON — Smiling Jimmy Mitchell, the Mansfield Soap Box Derby champion, and his counterparts from 147 other cities were having the time of their young lives today.

The youngsters, representing 148 cities in the United States, Alaska, Panama and Canada, were in a whirlpool of activity in this Derby-mad town. All of the champions were quartered at Derbytown, a miniature city in itself.

The activities at Derbytown range from sports to hobbies and crafts. On the agenda are such sports as swimming, fishing, horseback riding, tennis, archery, and volleyball.

But through all of the fun and youthful horseplay runs a slight undercurrent of pre-race jitters. For all of the youngsters have their sights set on that big All-American championship in the national finals at Akron's famous Derby Downs, Sunday afternoon.

The youngsters were scheduled to take trial runs down the 1,000-foot Derby course from 9 a. m. until 4:30 p. m. today. These runs give the youngsters a taste of the type of competition they will face Sunday.

Although he's one of the youngest performers in the race, Mitchell was quietly confidant that he would make a good showing. The 12-year-old Crestline youth was one of the 35 youngest lads in the "greatest amateur racing event in the world."

Only 11 of the boys who will race in the derby are 11 years. Twenty-four are 12 years old, 35 are 13 years old, 35 are 14, and 45 are 15.

Notwithstanding, Jimmy said today, "Gee, these cars built by the other boys sure look swell. But I'm going to do my best and sure plan on beating a bunch of the other fellows."

And the blond youngster was not bragging. His sleek black "News-Journal Special" gave all appearances of being one of the better cars entered in the big coaster affair. Jimmy has two Mansfield Class B championships behind him and is one of the veteran pilots in competition, although only 12.

Get Ready For 1950

Census Vanguard's In Action

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
(Central Press)

CHICAGO — Several hundred carefully trained census takers are pounding the pavements here and ringing doorbells in a full dress rehearsal of what virtually everyone in the country will experience within a year from now.

Here and in other test areas the final touches are being put on the Bureau of the Census' big show of 1950. The counting of noses in a country's population now is so widespread that about two-thirds of the world's inhabitants are periodically enumerated, but Uncle Sam does the most thorough job of all.

Not only does the indefatigable Census bureau come up with full population data at the end of each decade, but a great stock-pile of statistics also is accumulated on such matters as housing, occupations, amount of schooling, and even incomes.

It is a huge task, and since no self-respecting authority on census experts that questions must not touch on matters considered too private to discuss, especially with a government representative, but the current schedule has several such queries and the expected difficulty is being met.

One is the question on income, most of the interviewees hesitate there. The census takers usually start by asking whether it is $10,000 a year, and go down the line to a stopping point.

The other is the classical problem of getting women to confess their ages The tactful interviewers get around this by asking "can't you give me an estimate?" The responses indicates that the American woman seems to have discovered how to keep her youth.

The places the census takers find it hard to enter are more than counterbalanced by homes which welcome them with open arms. The interviewers are handed family albums, shown the family hobbies, and they even rate invitations to stay for dinner.

Superstitions which make censuses difficult in some part of the world have not spread to the United States The history of population census is very ancient stretching back to Babylonia, the Children of Israel in Old Testament times, and the greatest census takers prior to modern times, the Romans.

Misfortune coincidentally followed several of the census periods and it became legend among some peoples that it is bad luck to count noses. Even the British House of Lords expressed some misgivings in 1735 over authorizing a census, and as late as 1926 some tribes in the Kenya Colony of Africa rioted.

However, the United States Constitution provided for it when representation in the House of Representatives was based on population, and it has been taken as a matter of course here ever since. But not until 1880, did the census include special data such as now is gathered.

This year's list is long, but the Bureau warns it would be much longer if it yielded to demands for such data as how many blondes, brunets and redheads there are in the country and their geographic distribution. and what the dog, cat, and other pet population is.

As is is, this conservatism may be appreciated by Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Citizen when a few though the census taker tries to feel pretty well interviewed even though the census taker tries to be considerate and limit his visit to less than an hour.

BIG JOB—Census Taker Lawrence Goeckel hit the "jack pot" in 1940 when he enumerated 16 members of Buss family in Chicago. Still another son, Dan, wasn't home when Goeckel arrived for nose count.

the science of a census is satisfied with less than data based on face - to - face interviews, it means that at least one person in every family in the land will be visited for an average of about an hour by an interviewer who will check off answers on a big sheet of paper.

The trials here and in other test points throughout the country — such as Union county, Indiana, Cape Girardeau, Mo., and Anderson, S C. — are held partly to discover what questions may be dropped from the final list and whether the long-form that takes an hour and ten minutes is any better than a shorter 40-minute list.

The test canvass here involves 320 interviewers who are the vanguard of an eventual army of 165,000, each of whom will be paid from $200 to $800 for his trouble.

Many will be housewives who work a month or so out of each year gathering information in one or more of the Bureau's between-term surveys of such matters as business activity, employment manufacturers, mines foreign trade and agriculture.

Patience is one of the qualifications for the job, for on the average an enumerater must call back twice to find anyone at home and four trips is not unusual If no one ever opens up, they learn what they can from the neighbors

Since Americans travel a lot, it often is a question whether to count them where they happen to be when the census taker catches up with them or credit them to their usual communities Census experts call the former a de facto count and the latter a de jure. The United States census is technically classified as of the second type

This sometimes makes a big difference to a small commu-

Claims Company Making Too Much

COLUMBUS — (AP) — A certified public accountant told city council Wednesday that the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric company is making "more than a fair return" on its electric sales. But J. Paul Blundon, of Keyser, W. Va., said the company was losing money on its transit operations.

Blundon submitted a partial first report on his probe of the firm's books and operations. The city and utility are negotiating on a new contract for electric and transportation franchises.

Government Hog Support Plan Lauded

Seen As Aid To Farmer, Consumer

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Farmers may get their first experience this fall with the government's latest gadget for ending periodic ups and downs in prices and supplies of meat.

The gadget is a provision in the Agriculture department's price support program for hogs. It is aimed at giving a better price break to the farmer who raises, fattens and sells his hogs early than to the farmer who comes along later and contributes to a market glut.

Under this provision the farmer who markets his spring hogs in September is guaranteed $18 to $18.50 for 100 pounds. His neighbor who doesn't get his hogs in market shape until December is guaranteed between $14.75 and $15. That's a wide difference — and quite a penalty on the late guy.

The farmer knows, but perhaps the consumer doesn't, that hogs do not move steadily to market throughout the year. Marketings start the year at a very high level, then taper off in March and April. Then they spurt up in May and June, fall off again in July and August, only to climb again in the fall.

Usually prices of hogs — and pork chops — follow this same pattern. Right now, for example, housewives are complaining about prices of pork. The reason is the low level of marketings.

This uneven distribution of supplies throughout the year reflects in turn the hog production pattern. Most farmers breed their sows so that they will farrow in the spring and early fall — when the weather is usually most favorable for pigs.

What is needed, says the department, is a change in the breeding pattern so that more pigs will be born in the late winter and more in the summer and hence fewer in the spring and fall.

Both the farmer and the consumer would benefit, says the department. The farmer would average out somewhat higher prices than he now gets because there no longer would be a sharp price break just at the time when he has the most hogs to sell.

The consumer no longer would have to pay very high prices in the late winter and late summer because there would be larger supplies of meat at those times.

Rogge Raps Tom Clark

WASHINGTON — (AP) — O. John Rogge, a former assistant attorney general under Tom Clark, said Wednesday his former boss "has neither the stature, integrity nor ability" demanded of a supreme court justice.

Rogge, whose legal activities since he left the government led to sharp questioning, appeared before the Senate judiciary committee in behalf of Henry Wallace's Progressive party.

The committee is considering President Truman's nomination of Clark to the high tribunal.

Rogge called the lists of subversive organizations which Clark has issued under that program unconstitutional "Black lists" intended to imply "guilty by association."

He said Clark had conducted a "loyalty witch - hunt" among federal employes until many Americans are "afraid to think for themselves."

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) interrupted to ask Rogge how he would have protected government secrets and confidential matters against subversives and communists.

Rogge said he would assume that most Americans were loyal.

"You are not that gullible," Ferguson told Rogge.

Ferguson noted that Rogge has acted as defense lawyer for many persons since he quit government service.

"Most of my clients are not communists," Rogge said.

"Now let's be frank," Ferguson said, "some of them are communists."

Air of Meekness Pervades Former Gangster Hangout

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

CHICAGO — (AP) — There has been a change in Chicago's underworld.

You don't hear the bang, bang of gang pistols and machine guns nearly as often as you did 20 years ago. But there are other, and more subtle, differences between the era of Al Capone and the present time.

Virgil W. Peterson, operating director of the Chicago Crime commission, a civic agency that has been the city's "watch-dog of crime" for 30 years, compares the two periods.

"There isn't as much wild west style shooting among gang elements as during the '20s and '30s," he says. "There still are killings but not to the same extent."

The FBI reported Chicago had 326 murders in 1948. That was the highest number for any city in the U. S. But—and this is one of the big points of difference between the Capone and post-Capone periods—only a few of them were mob jobs.

The commission's files showed that gang murders averaged 55 a year in the violent 1926-32 epoch. The number was down to seven in 1946, three in 1947, ten in 1948 and only two in the first half of this year.

There were as many gang murders on one day in 1929 as there were in one recent year, 1946. Seven men were executed by a firing squad in a north side garage on St. Valentine's day 20 years ago. The echoes of the shots were heard around the world.

"During the Capone gang heyday operations were much more brazen than today," Peterson said. "Many political figures then found it expedient to be known as friends of hoodlums. That isn't true now."

Chicago hasn't been such a happy hunting ground since businessman Martin H. Kennelly became Mayor in 1947.

"Gambling, the main source of gang revenue, has been whittled down," Peterson said. "These used to be seven joints within a short walk of my office in the loop. They're gone now. There still is gambling but not on the old scale."

MASS FOR THEIR DEAD—With 400 townfolk known to have been killed, priests hold a mass in the square of the earthquake-stricken town of Ambato, Eucador. The dead included 60 children buried in the ruins of the Ambato Cathedral. Hundreds of grief and terror-stricken survivors, huddled in black robes, participate in the ceremony. Some 4,000 persons died in the quake and hundreds of thousands were homeless

Rep. Helen Douglas Blushes But Gets Amendment Passed

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Masculine members of the House were surprised yesterday to learn they had voted to "cover" —and not "uncover"—10,000 women.

It was all a question of verbal confusion on the part of Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas, D., Calif., and leaping at conclusions on the part of the afore-said masculine members.

Mrs. Douglas took the floor during the noisy debate on the Wage-Hour act and offered an amendment. In the hubbub, nobody understood what it was and in her usual clear, firm voice, she began to explain:

"Ten - thousand women will be uncovered in this amendment. . ."

Delighted male members whooped her amendment through before she could get any more words out of her mouth. Mrs. Douglas turned a deep crimson and walked back to her seat.

Actually, things were a little topsy-turvy. The bill before the House was an "amendment" to the Wage - Hour act and had a provision which would "uncover" 10,000 telephone girls now under its provisions.

Mrs. Douglas was offering an "amendment to the amendment" to keep the 10,000 operators "covered." She won but mostly because she chose to talk about the "amendment" rather than her "amendment to the amendment."

WHEAT WASTE AVERTED

HOISINGTON, Kan. —(UP)— A railroad is giving an assist to combat the acute grain storage problem. The old Missouri Pacific shop building in this central Kansas town has been leased for a year to enable storage of 350,000 bushels of wheat from the bumper 1949 crop.

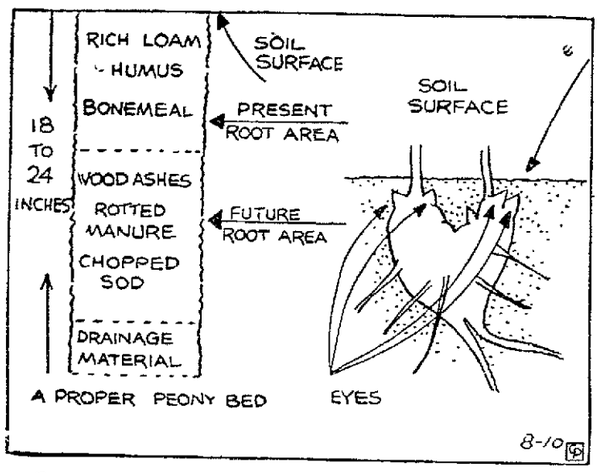
Fall Planting of Peonies



By DEAN HALLIDAY
(Central Press Association)

Peonies should be planted when dormant, which is in early fall, from mid-August to November. They can be planted in early spring, but fall planting is preferred.

Peonies resent being moved and once planted will bloom successfully for many years. Therefore, they should be planted in beds that have been thoroughly prepared.

The chart shown in the accompanying Garden - Graph illustrates the soil requirements for real success with peonies. It calls for digging the soil 18 to 24 inches deep. When necessary, place drainage material in the bottom. The bottom layer of soil should be mixed with well rotted manure, wood ashes, sod or other humos. If manure is not available, then mix in a commerical plant food such as 4-12-4.

Fertilizers must not come in contact with with roots for fear of burning them, so in the upper 8 or 10 inches of soil where the roots will set, use rich loam mixed with humus and bone meal.

When planting peonies, set the tuber in the soil so the top bud is two inches below soil surface, as illustrated. If peonies are planted to deep they will not bloom or else they will merely produce blind buds. If they are not planted deep enough, they are subject to winter injury. Shallow planted roots dry out quickly during hot dry weather.

Work the soil in among the roots and pack it firmly, being careful not to bruise or break any roots. Space the plants three to four feet apart to allow for future development.

Lawyer Describes Police Officers Brutality

Attorney Claims He Was Beaten

Next Hearing Due Monday

COLUMBUS — (AP) — The first witness in an investigation of alleged brutality by Columbus policemen yesterday testified he was threated with "unwarranted violence."

Otis C. Buchanan, a 35-year-old Columbus attorney, told the three - member investigating panel he was manhandled and knocked out by a half dozen or more policemen when he was arrested last Sept. 10 on an intoxication charge.

Mayor James A. Rhodes ordered the special investigation after the Columbus Bar association charged the police department with 11 specific acts of maltreatment of prisoners.

The attorney said he asked to use a telephone after he was arrested and taken to city jail. He claimed a policeman answered his request with abusive language.

Buchanan said when he repeated his request to use the telephone, a policeman knocked his glasses off and struck him on the head with a blackjack.

"I became incensed and fought three or four of them — knocked down two, I'm sure," the attorney testified. "I was fighting, I didn't know what else to do."

Police Inspector Thomas A. Scully and eight policemen testified that Buchanan started the fight. They said it was necessary to subdue him and place him in a strait jacket.

Charles F. Fouts of nearby Gahanna, said he witnessed the fight. He told the committee Buchanan knocked one policeman down, another over a counter, and a third against a wall. A fourth policeman called for help, Fouts testified.

During questioning, Buchanan said he had signed a release absolving the policemen of any liability for injuries suffered.

The release was signed, he added, before Police Prosecutor Glenn Kemp asked the court for dismissal of the charges against him. Court records show Buchanan's case was dismissed for "lack of evidence."

The committee's next hearing will be held Monday.

Religious Education Ban Scored

Msgr. Goebel Flays Trend of Courts

"There is a tendency today by American courts to read things into the law that are not there," Msgr. R. C. Goebel, pastor of St. Peter's Catholic church, told members of the Kiwanis club at their weekly luncheon yesterday at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Msgr. Goebel rapped a Supreme Court decision that ruled out the teaching of religion in public schools.

"Many of the books that I read while attending public school have since been banned because they mention God and Christianity," Msgr. Goebel declared.

"All of us will concede that there is a proper place for the church and a proper place for the state in our society. But all churches enjoy police and fire protection and other benefits of the citizens of the United States. This is not participation of church in government, but rather cooperation between the church and the state.

"In this country we have had a happy system of cooperation, not separation, between the church and state. It is apparent the best system is not separation of church and state or neighbor from neighbor, but cooperation between the two," Msgr Goebel said.

"Another tendency in our government is the encroachment of one government agency on another agency. In Russia the executive, legislative and judicial departments are all merged into one and the result is a dictatorship."

"In dealing with Russia we are dealing with an anti-God, anti-moral, anti-human country that recognizes no moral law. The Russian government uses any means at its disposal in the furthering of its dictatorship," Msgr. Goebel charged.

Msgr. Goebel, in discussing what will happen to Russia, listed three possible results:

(1) "We never know what is in the providence of God — throughout the Catholic world we are offering prayers for the conversion of Russia and we hope that other religions are doing the same, (2) The second possibility is internal rebellion; (3) Aggression in war to retain our democratic principles."

"The hope of lasting peace in America lies in religion, not wealth, intelligence or arms. The United States is the only country in the world where there has not been any large scale religious persecution. Because of this God has blessed America. If we are to continue to earn God's blessings we must make sure there is no religious persecution in this country," Msgr. Goebel added.

"The present trend in this country is towards security, but there has been only one kind of person who had any security in this country and that was the negro slave. When the slave became a free man he lost all the security he had previously possessed," Msgr. Goebel said.

Mansfield's Jimmy Finds Pre-Derby Fanfare Exciting

From outside the United States there are William Coffman, 15, St. Catherines, Ontario; Thomas Jenkins, 15, Panama; Rudolph Maier, 13, Juneau, Alaska, and Paul Olsen, 14, Mission City, British Columbia.

A highlight of today's activity will be Akron's giant Bantam football preview at 8 p. m. at the Rubber Bowl. The youngsters will sit in a special section to watch the grid teams perform, a parade of bands and a big fireworks display.

Tomorrow, one of the features will be a Chamber of Commerce Luncheon at Derbytown with prominent figures from the automotive, newspaper and entertainment worlds serving as waiters for the youngsters.

Every competitor in the nationals will come in for a slice of the big prize melon and special awards will go to the first five boys. The champion will, as usual, get a scholarship to the college of his choice.

However, this year the value of the scholarship has been increased from $3,000 to $5,000. T. H. Keating, general sales manager of Chevrolet, said yesterday, "To meet present day conditions, Chevrolet has increased the cash value of this scholarship. By taking this action we believe that the first prize will continue to be the most important award in amateur sports."

The champion also will receive a gold ring which is a duplicate of the one awarded to the winner of the Indianapolis 500-mile race.

For second place will be a 1949 Chevrolet sedan. The winner may select the model and color.

Merchandise awards include: third place, a motion picture camera and projector; fourth place, a portable wire-recorder, and fifth place, a pair of Navy type eight-power binoculars.

Awards also will be given for the best-upholstered car and the best-designed car. The best-designed trophy is donated by C. F. Kettering, Loudonville native.

Each of the youngsters will receive a wrist watch and a racing diploma at the "banquet of champions" Sunday night.

Mayor Asks Ashland To Save Water

Warns Consumers Of Shortage Threat

ASHLAND — With Ashland facing a possible water shortage before the end of summer, Mayor Louis E Mansfield is asking consumers to go on a voluntary conservation basis for the next few weeks

Reminding consumers of last summer's desperate situation when one section of the city was without water during a period of several days, the mayor warns that another such shortage may develop unless there is rigid conservation.

Present level in the city standpipe is 16 feet and unless there is complete cooperation an official ban on water wastage will be put into effect again, the mayor warned

This should be the last summer of water shortages for the city as the $375,000 waterworks expansion program, now under way, will be completed by spring. The program will provide sufficient additional water treatment facilities for the expanded population, the mayor states.

Present shortage is due to inadequate treatment facilities for available water, the mayor pointed out With new filters now being installed there will be a plentiful supply of city water by next year

Higher Pork Predicted

Bumper Vegetable Crop Lowers Prices

Fresh vegetables held the food spotlight this week as midsummer's bumper supplies pushed prices downward.

Meat, poultry, dairy products and other items on the housewife's shopping list held mostly unchanged pricewise.

However, higher wholesale and livestock quotations for pork promised higher pork retail prices soon. At mid-week live hogs at the huge Chicago livestock market were at the highest price since last November — around $23.65 a hundred pounds, compared with the year's low of $18.25 late in April.

Nearly all vegetables with the exception of top quality iceberg lettuce and carrots were lower this week. Lima and snap beans, peppers, cabbage, sweet potatoes, eggplant, tomatoes and celery led the produce items downward, along with soft fruits like peaches and pears.

Producer associations and trade groups designated this as national vegetable week and cooperated to promote the selling of fresh produce. And the U. S. Agriculture department headlined onions, cabbage, lettuce and tomatoes on its national list of most-plentiful foods this week.

Only in the northeastern states, still feeling the effects of a drought earlier, were a few vegetables like asparagus and cauliflower selling at above-average prices.

Prospects of excessive supplies of fruit in coming weeks were causing growers and distributors increasing concern. Their associations were planning nationwide sales campaigns in a cooperative effort to increase fruit consumption. These were expected to stress fresh peaches and pears during the next two weeks, fresh prunes in early September, grapes in October, then apples, canned fruits and dried fruits in subsequent weeks.

The government's bureau of agricultural economics reported this week that retail prices for most of the fresh fruits are expected to decline more than seasonally this summer, and by fall should be lower than a year earlier.

"However, for both fresh and canned citrus, prices will continue substantially high this summer than last," the report added. Citrus will continue in short supply until the new crop gains volume next fall.

Other price predictions by the bureau: meat probably will decline seasonally this fall, but not as sharply as the same months last year. Eggs probable will rise seasonally during the next few months, moving toward the peak generally reached in the last quarter of the year.

Chicken and turkey are expected to be lower during the rest of the year than in the comparable months of 1948. Sample reports of turkey hatchery activity indicate the number of turkeys hatched this year may be 60 per cent above last year's level.

"Retail food prices in general may show little change from present levels until fall, when some decline is anticipated," the bureau concluded.

Hoover Presents Food For Thought

THE DIFFICULT JOB of "thinking" was strongly advised by ex-President Herbert Hoover as he addressed the American people Wednesday evening on the occasion of his 75th birthday anniversary.

In his own mature thinking, much of which has been devoted to national affairs and international problems, Mr. Hoover has arrived at many conclusions which evidence a soundness of judgment that is out of accord with much of the governmental philosophy that has come into vogue in recent years.

Pointing to the tremendous expenditures for operation of government, Mr. Hoover warned: "Along this road of spending, the government either takes over, which is socialism, or dictates institutional and economic life, which is fascism."

Noting the growth of collectivism throughout the world, he expressed concern about "a considerable group of fuzzy-minded people who are engineering a compromise with all these European infections."

"They fail to realize," he said, "that our American system has grown away from the systems of Europe for 250 years. They have the foolish notion that a collectivist economy can at the same time preserve personal liberty and constitutional government."

Approach toward more widespread understanding of the basic principles of American government lies in thinking and debate in the schools and in resumption of "corner grocery" discussions, which Mr. Hoover urges.

And all through his talk there was repeated the admonition: "Think it over"—which is a very good idea, especially for taxpayers, which includes every self-sustaining adult.

Council's Special Meeting Fails

MANSFIELD city council, having expressed firm determination to combat the telephone company's proposed rate increases, failure of a quorum to attend the Wednesday evening special meeting should not be interpreted as a weakening of intent.

Purpose of this meeting was to act on an ordinance authorizing employment of someone qualified to study all phases of the rate increase proposal, so as to have facts available for presentation to the state utilities commission when the matter comes up for hearing—probably in November.

With only three of the nine members present, it was impossible to take action, and, according to announcement, nothing further is to be done before early September, and the question arises, will that give ample time for the work that will be involved in securing the services of an expert investigator and not hurry him in gaining needed information on the subjects of capital investment of the telephone company, maintenance costs, profits, and the like, all of which enter into consideration of fair rates for service.

If, by any chance, quicker action is needed, it appears quite likely that the explanations given by absentees from the Wednesday evening meeting would not carry through to another call for a special meeting in advance of the regular September meeting.

Shanghai's Taste of Communism

PROBABLY the working people of Shanghai are not very well informed about the course of history in other countries where the communist movement has become dominant. Gripped in poverty and various forms of age-old Oriental misery, many of them were doubtless eager to believe the Red "liberators", who promised them the moon.

A measure of their disillusionment is seen in the fact that the new regime has found it necessary to warn them that while they have been "liberated politically" their economic lives "can only be improved gradually."

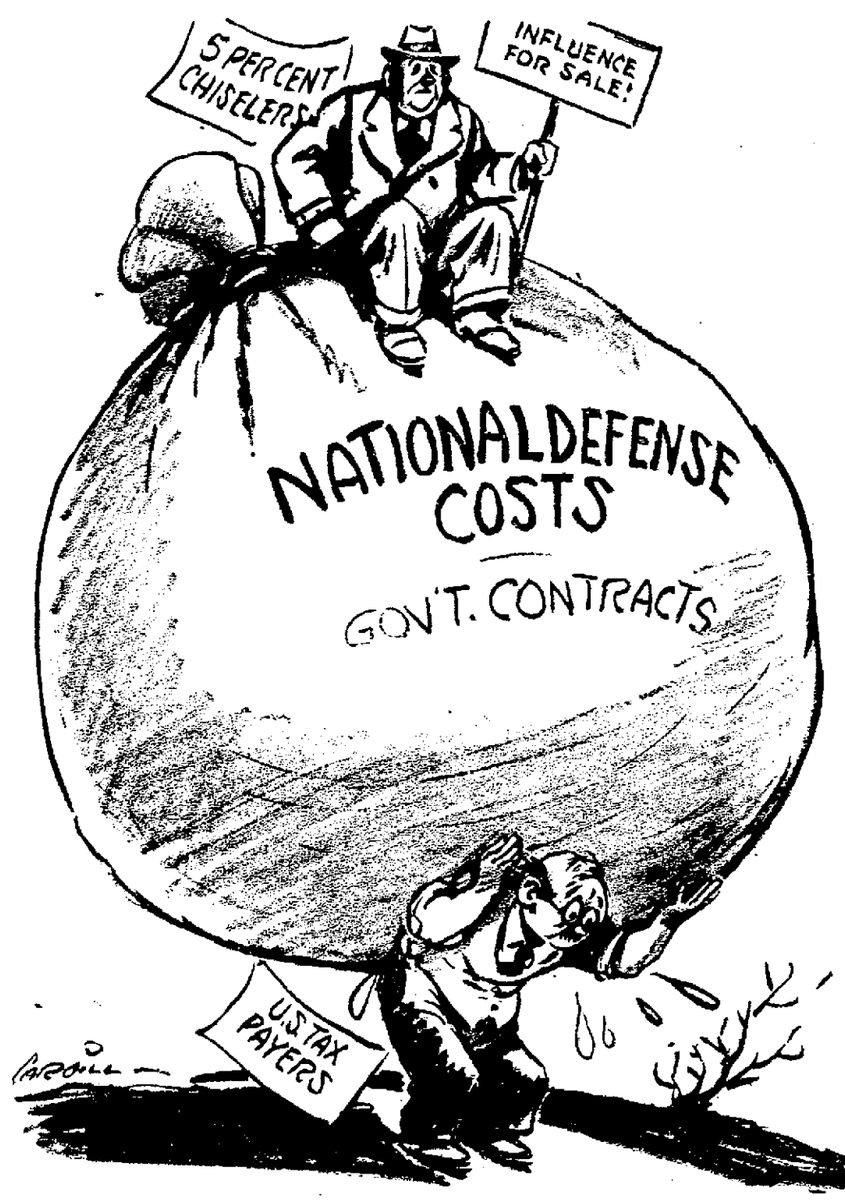
The workers are told that they "should not harbor ideas of receiving equal pay for all kinds of work," but that "there should be a reasonable wage scale." As an index of this "gradual improvement" it is reported that 200 of Shanghai's 668 restaurants catering to workers have been closed.

It is evident that the poor people of China's metropolis are being introduced to the blessings of political patronage, Soviet style. Of course there must be a "reasonable" wage scale, reasonably and heavily weighted in favor of loyal party workers. Not only the best-paying jobs, but food also must be conserved for the party elite.

Like its parent regime in Russia, the communist dispensation in China is showing that no tyranny can establish or perpetuate itself without a rigid system of rewards and punishments in the economic field.

Danger lurks in unsuspected places, as, for instance, the item from Neodasha, Kansas, telling of a spirited pin ball player dislocating his hip while attempting to influence the course of the ball.

Noting that Australia—on the other side of the world—is in the midst of a snowstorm, one puzzled child wonders how the stuff can fall up.



Washington Joyride.

Frankly Speaking

Little Matter of Names

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — Congressman Minniver Mistletoe goes home and tells the folks:

"Why, sure. Congress passed a housing bill for the low-income people. Now I think Congress oug t to do it for you moderate income folks.

"In fact, I introduced a bill in Congress to do just that. I'll show you. Here's a copy of the very bill with my name on it."

Sure enough. There it is. Just as he said. But maybe he forgets to tell them how he came to get his name on the bill in the first place. For instance:

Last May a congressman introduced a housing bill for moderate-income families. A couple of months later along came another congressman who, for some reason, wanted his own name on the bill so, without changing a word in the bill itself, he scratched out the name of the first congressman and wrote in his own name in ink.

Then the bill was sent down to the government printer where new copies of the same bill were made except that now the second congressman's name was on it.

He may go home later and tell the folks about the bill, and himself. Or, maybe he had another reason for doing what he did.

There's a lot of that done.

In the House there's a rule that only one member's name can appear on a bill.

Just to show how much support that particular bill has, a whole gang of other congressmen may have the same bill reprinted with their name on it.

* * *

At Taxpayers' Expense.

ALL THIS costs the taxpayers money, of course, since it's the government printer who does the printing, and the cost of printing a bill depends upon the number of pages.

For instance, the idea of a world federation has a lot of support in the House.

About 103 bills—all identical but bearing in each case the name of a different congressman—were introduced to back up world federation.

In the Senate there's no rule like that of the house. There any number of senators all can have their names lumped together on one bill.

And a congressman's name on a bill doesn't mean he had anything to do with writing it. The job may have been done for him by the bill - writing experts employed by Congress, after he told them what he wanted.

Or, maybe it was written by the lawyers in some government agency. Or even by the lawyers of some outside organization which got a congressman to introduce a bill for it as his own.

Some congressmen don't always remember—or even recognize—a bill they introduced. For example:

Rep. Wolverton, New Jersey republican, is a member of the mittee. Sitting with other committee, itting with other committee members this week, he was discussing a railway safety bill.

It had been introduced this year in Congress by the committee chairman, Rep. Crosser, Ohio Democrat. There were some things about the bill which Wolverton disliked.

He protested that the committee never had been told who wrote it. Just then William J. Patterson, a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, spoke up.

He said he and a member of his staff had written the bill a year ago and that a year ago it was introduced for them by Wolverton. This year it was reintroduced by Crosser.

Wolverton remembered then and said he had introduced it as courtesy for the ICC although, when doing that, congressmen may not like everything in the bill.

Speaking of Your Health

Too Tired? See Doctor

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

FATIGUE is the normal result of effort. A hard day's work or a full day's play will each bring about a feeling of tiredness. But fatigue is also a frequent symptom of disease, particularly when it is present most of the time and without any actual expenditure of energy to account for it.

Strenuous mental work, as well as emotional strain, will use up energy and produce a feeling of tiredness. In some people, the cause of undue fatigue seems to lie in a lack of balance between the storage of energy and its expenditure. In these cases the body's ability to restore itself after mental or physical exertion is not up to par.

Fatigue develops in long-continued infections and, in such cases, it may be due to the taking up of poisons or toxins resulting from the infections. On the other hand, it may come from anemia or lessening of the color of the blood produced by the infection.

Variety of Causes.

Fatigue occurs in patients with diabetes and in these cases it may be due to the patient's inability to use sugar which is circulating in the blood. On the other hand, a condition known as hyperinsulinism, in which the pancreas secretes too much insulin, thus reducing the blood sugar to a low level, also may be a cause for fatigue.

Disturbances of the blood and sever anemia interfere with the ability of the blood to carry oxygen to the tissues. The same thing may happen in cases of heart failure. A feeling of extreme fatigue may be present in these conditions.

Cancer may cause some damage to the blood-producing tissues in the bone marrow with anemia and resulting extreme fatigue.

The fatigue of tuberculosis is probably due to the taking up of toxins or poisons formed by the infection.

Fatigue is also present in hardening of the arteries, poisoning with various metals, in chronic kidney disease, and in acute and chronic liver infections.

Many patients who experience undue fatigue believe that it is a simple matter to determine just why such a symptom should be present.

But with such a variety of causes, it is easy to see that only a thorough and complete study can determine just which one may be active in a particular case.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Anti-U. S.-Filipinos In Quirino Party

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Philippine President Elpidio Quirino received the customary formal amenities during his Washington visit but, privately, top officials breathed a sigh of relief when he departed.

Reason was a gingerly handled situation that astonished and embarrassed them.

Three leading members of Quirino's party were prominent Jap collaborators and violent U. S. denouncers. They are:

Jose Yulo, chief justice of the supreme court in the Jap-created puppet government. Yulo was personally decorated by Emperor Hirohito for outstanding services to Japan. Yulo is now a member of Quirino's council of state.

Federico Mangahas, zealous supporter of the Japs and ghost writer of virulently anti-American speeches for top Filipino collaborators. Mangahas, is now Quirino's private secretary.

Vicente Albano Pacis, leading collaborationist propagandist who poured out a steady stream of anti-American fulminations in the press and on the radio. He is press chief of Quirino's party.

President Quirino, personally, has an impeccable resistance record. Hiw wife and other members of his family were killed by the Japs because of his steadfast refusal to collaborate. Friends explain the presence of the three collaborators in his party as due to "political necessity."

Quirino is seeking re-election this year in a very uncertain race. His leading opponent is Jose P. Laurel, who was president of the Jap puppet government. Despite his extreme collaborationist record, including a declaration of war against the U. S., Laurel was freed from prison in an amnesty proclaimed by his close friend and fellow collaborationist, the late President Manuel Roxas. Another strong candidate opposing Quirino is Jose Avelino, wily Tammany-type politician.

Quirino's friends say his three collaborationist associates are giving important help in his re-election campaign. This is particularly true of Yulo, credited with being one of the smartest businessmen and best money-raisers in the Philippines.

Yulo is an intimate of Ambassador Joaquin M. Elizalde, who has represented his country in Washington off and on for a number of years. Elizalde is rated as the wealthiest man in the Philippines.

In Filipino circles it is claimed one reason for Quirino's visit was to promote a U. S. loan to Elizalde's extensive business interests.

Washington officials were particularly annoyed at the presence of the three collaborationists because of lack of enthusiasm about the whole idea of Quirino's visit. The plan originated with his campaign managers. They conceived it as a smart campaign maneuver. The official invitation was extended reluctantly and only after much wire-pulling.

Finders Keepers.

WASHINGTON state's Senators Warren G. Magnuson, D., and Harry Cain, R., are at bitter loggerheads over the Tacoma postmastership. Tacoma is Cain's home town and he is demanding the appointment for one of his adherents, William E. Patrick, former Army colonel. Magnuson is just as insistently supporting John MacMonagle, disable veteran who has been acting postmaster for four years.

Cain took the controversy directly to Magnuson, saying, "I thought a senator had the right to recommend the postmaster for his home town?"

"Perhaps so, in some cases," retorted Magnuson, "but in this case there are two strikes against you. One is that my man was originally recommended by the congressman of his district and he has strong support in Tacoma. The other strike is that you Republicans are not in control this year as you were last. That makes a big difference, and that is why my man will get the appointment."

Unemployment Figures.

ACCURACY of the census bureau's last 4,100,000 unemployment report is sharply questioned by the public affairs institute. According to Dr. Dewey Anderson, P. A. I. director, the figure is low by at least 600,000.

Anderson also sharply challengers Commerce Secretary Sawyer's contention that increase in unemployment is due largely to the influx of young new workers looking for jobs. Anderson says the statistics don't bear that out.

"A comparison of changes in the labor force during May-June," he declares "shows that 800,000 fewer young people became active job seekers this year than during the same period last year. The official unemployment figures are not realistic. Large numbers of jobless are not being taken into consideration for various technical reasons that don't hold water on examination."

* * *

Flashes.

SENATOR Charles Tobey, R., N. H., wept openly during the labor committee hearing on the bill for federal aid in the fight against multiple sclerosis. One of the witnesses was Mrs. Lou Gehrig, widow of the baseball star who died of the disease . . . Secretaries Dean Acheson and Louis Johnson warmly assured the foreign relations committee there is no ill feeling between them over military meddling in foreign policy . . . Rhode Island Democrats are trying to persuade Thomas G. Corcoran, one-time top New Deal brain-truster, to re-enter the political arena. He has given no indication that he is interested.

Assignment: America

This Guide Tells It All

By INEZ ROBB

NEW YORK — We Americans, devout rubber - neckers and nomads, at last have a comprehensive guide book to our own, our native land.

"The American Guide," just off the Hastings House presses, devotes 1,348 pages and more than 1,100,000 words to a blow - by - blow description of the United States from Abajo Peak (Utah) to Zurich (Mont.).

It is a stunning compendium of fact, fiction, legend, local color and history that is twice as long as "Forever Amber" and a million times mmore interesting.

No Hamlet has been neglected in any of the 48 states, no cow path overlooked. It is guaranteed to keep every American with a jalopy or better on the open road for the rest of his natural life.

Whether the all - American tourist, unlimited, wants a transcontinental trip or whether he is planning a safari only 50 miles from home, I'll bet he'll find in this book a wealth of information he never knew before.

Until I dipped into this guide, I was monumentally ignorant of the fact the first ice cream in America was made at Wiscasset, Me., and served to Gen. Lafayette, or that Rosa Bonheur, famous for paintings of horses, was commissioned and painted the first likeness of that intrepid American quadruped, Bull Durham.

State by state, "The American Guide" dissects the nation's highways and by - ways and folk lore. It took four and a half years, 32 editors, more than 1,000 consultants, some 10,000 contributors and 20,000 letters to compile the book, Henry G. Alsberg, editor - in - chief, said as he sat in the offices of Hastings House.

* * *

Sights To Be Seen.

ALSBERG got a head start on the job when he served as head of the federal writers' project in the 'thirties, when the WPA compiled guide books to each of the 48 states.

A big man, with a skyscraper brow topped by disheveled, iron gray hair, deep set eyes and a prominent nose above a small, sandy moustache, Alsberg said that the chief tourist attractions for Americans in their own land are:

Williamsburg, Va., New York City, Yellowstone national park, the Grand Canyon, the Yosemite, Washington, D. C., California and Hollywood; San Francisco, New Orleans, Charleston, S. C., Boston, Niagara Falls, Chicago and Florida.

These are not named in the order of their popularity, but as they occurred to Alsberg. In New York, the Statue of Liberty is still a prime tourist must with Americans, as well as the Empire State building and Rockefeller Center.

As he was compiling this exciting guide to the United States, he was particularly struck by (1) The "toughness" of the American pioneer woman and (2) The number of communal or communist settlements attempted in the Nineteenth century by political idealists or religious fanatics.

"The American Guide" gives ample evidence of both. Alsberg himself mentioned in some awe, as evidence of the first, a Mrs. Hannah Dustin of Haverhill who, with a nurse, small child and a young boy, was kidnapped by the Indians in 1697.

Hannah, annoyed beyond endurance at such effrontery, eventually worked her way back to Haverhill, with nurse, child and boy unscathed, and with ten Indian scalps hanging from her belt.

Alsberg found a tremendous interest throughout the nation in the preservation of historic landmarks. He himself is convinced there should be a federal board charged with such matters, as well as with the protection of the nation's highways and continuing encroachments by billboards and hot - dog stands.

"The American Guide," an incomparable Baedeker, is worth every penny of its steep price ($7.50).

Dave Boone Says:

OVER in Geneva at a U. N. committee meeting the communist speakers shout that the capitalistic system is going down the drain, that nothing can save it, that the United States is hardest hit in the crisis and that American workers are worse off than ever and are going down hill daily.

* * *

The thing that disappoints the commies is that the trip down hill is being made in limousines with brakes working.

* * *

And they know it is hard to find many American workers, even when the sledding is a little tough, who would swap the system for one under which they can get shot for expressing an opinion and flung into the hoosegow for going to church.

* * *

To paraphrase an old saying, the amazing thing about Moscow is that it knows so many things that positively ain't so.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

IT SEEMS a shame to forgive Finland's debt. . . . They're the only debtors we ever had who ever paid.

* * *

And it will sure ball up things in the treasury department . . . but perhaps other light work can be found for the fellow who handles "Foreign Accounts Receivable" half days.

* * *

We have so much out on loan now in Europe it would be impossible as well as unthinkable for them to repay it.

* * *

But we're in a better position in the Orient. Our government didn't leave very much in China and the state department hints their government didn't either.

Timely Editorial

No More Needed.

Although there have been no evidences of Ohioans fainting from thirst these days, still 1500 night clubs, beer joints, fraternal organizations, veterans groups, delicatessens, corner stores and just plain "social clubs" are clamoring for liquor licenses.

Ever since the Lausche administration back in January froze the once apparently limitless flow of permits to dish out booze, these 1500 and their lawyers and lobbyists have been storming Columbus.

Today the state has 7000 places selling intoxicants. These 7000 spots are plenty for a normal bunch of citizens. There doesn't seem to be a valid reason for handing out any more.

In fact, all the police and liquor inspectors and sheriffs in the state are having trouble enough handling 7000 places without adding extra ones.—Cleveland Press.

As Others See It

Observation.

Some motorists drive as if all that was needed to get through congested traffic are a strong will and a weak mind.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Economy Suggestion.

It costs the taxpayers $500 a week to provide Secret Service guards for Margaret Truman in New York. A lot of money could be saved if that girl would get married.—Ohio State Journal.

Words of the Wise

The men who succeed best in public life are those who take the risk of standing by their own convictions.—James A. Garfield.

To know the pains of power, we must go to those who have it; to know its pleasures, we must go to those who are seeking it; the pains of power are real, its pleasures imaginary.—C. C. Colton.

How Pearson Started Tanforan Expose

SOMETIMES it takes a long while for official Washington to catch up with a newspaperman's story. But this week official Washington, three years late, is getting to the bottom of the Tanforan race-track scandal in California, first exposed by Drew Pearson in June, 1946.

At that time Pearson got letters from California war veterans pointing out that while they were unable to get homes the Tanforan race track was going ahead with elaborate non-essential construction.

Pearson immediately got busy and from June, 1946, to December, 1947, when finally General Vaughan was too powerful, Pearson waged an unrelenting battle for the enforcement of housing relations set up for the protection of veterans.

On June 22, 1946, Pearson told of mysterious goings-on whereby Washington higher-ups gave no support to local California officials who were trying to stop Tanforan construction.

Again, on March 31, 1947, Pearson reported that Tanforan's "flouting of the government appeared so willful that rumor got around that they had an 'in' with somebody very high up.

Instead of punishing Tanforan for their willful violations, the civilian production administration merely asked Judge Harris for an injunction to stop building operations. CPA officials apparently were standing on the sidelines doing nothing about Tanforan's continued use of building materials so Judge Harris moved himself, Pearson reported.

Pearson interviewed a dozen or more officials both in Washington and on the West Coast and became convinced that somebody in Washington had an "in" with the race track. It was undoubtedly due to his persistence that, in the end, four Tanforan officials were sentenced to two to four months in prison and fined $70,000.

Pearson followed up the Merry-Go-Round exposes of 1946-47 with two columns last week, August 4 and 5, giving details which the Senate investigating committee has just revealed officially.

On August 4 Pearson reported that when "General Vaughan's friend, John Maragon, couldn't get government building restrictions raised to help the Tanforan track, Vaughan sent his other friend, James Hunt, to the housing expediter."

"General Vaughan didn't like the way the housing expediter treated his bosom pal, Maragon," Pearson continued on August 5, "so he complained to his other pal, lobbyist James Hunt, and a few days later Hunt showed up at the housing expediter's office. Hunt told housing officials that his friends from the Tanforan track hadn't been treated courteously, etc."

Finally, Pearson reported, General Vaughan himself interviewed Housing Expediter Woods.

What Some Other People Are Saying

Army Chief of Staff OMAR BRADLEY: "The place a future war breaks out is not in our hands. The decision is someone else's. Modern science being what it is, and the range of planes what they are, I don't believe anyone can say that war is more apt to break out in one place than another."

* * *

Famed Physicist ALBERT EINSTEIN: "A method should be ironed out of teaching history without creating the obsession of the past as is so often the case. The spell of nationalism may thus be broken. . . . It is first in the minds of men that the conditions of a true international co-operation are to be sought."

* * *

EX-PRESIDENT HERBERT HOOVER: "Along this road of spending, the government either takes over, which is socialism, or dictates institutional and economic life, which is fascism."

St. Peter's Schools To Open Sept. 6

Buildings Made Ready For New Term

Vacation will end for Mansfield Catholic students Sept. 6 when school bells at St. Peter's elementary and high schools will wl them back to classes for the fall term.

While students have been vacationing, workmen have been busy at the school buildings cleaning and renovating them for the next year.

All rooms in St. Peter's elementary and high school buildings have been thoroughly cleaned and minor repairs such as fixing broken sidewalks, have been completed.

All school children, both elementary and high school age, from the new parish in the northeast section of the city will continue to attend classes at St. Peter's school as usual this year, according to Msgr. R. C. Goebel.

Although St. Peter's church recently purchased the old Newman school building to be used as a combination Catholic church and school for the northeast district. Msgr. Goebel said the new school would not be ready this year.

Will Slash Spending

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Gen. Joseph T. MacNarney launched a major economy drive Thursday with a promise to slash a billion dollars a year from defense spending.

McNarney, newly - appointed chairman of Defense Secretary Johnson's economy setup, explained how the cuts may be made.

The former Mediterranean and European theater commander said he did not think the Johnson-set economy goal--a billion dollars savings by next July 1—was too much.

He said it will mean the closing of some military installations — through consolidations, mergers and transfers of functions.

It will mean that thousands of civilian employes of the military establishment, at home and possibly overseas, will either have to move or seek new jobs.

It will mean some reduction of military personnel—but no reduction of military effectives.

U. S. Blamed After Riot

MUNICH, Germany —(UP)— The Munich Jewish committee published a resolution blamfor Wednesday's two-hour riot in which five Jews and 20 German policemen were injured.

The resolution said the Americans were responsible for an upsurge of "neo-fascism" in Germany.

"It is hard to believe that American occupation forces would allow provocations like this in spite of all their declarations against race hatred and for the preservation of human rights," the resolution said.

None of us intend to stay any longer in this country. We do not want to stay on this soil, stained with Jewish blood. We have our own country now. As long as we are forced to stay here we will use all our strength to fight any attempt of anti-Jewish provocations. We demand the instigators be punished."

The riot started when 50 German policemen attempted to disperse 3,000 Jews who had massed to march on the office building of the Sueddeutsche Zeitung (South German news) because the newspaper printed an anti-semitic letter to the editor.

Garden Contest Winners Named For Grade Schools

By OLIVE GRESMER

"Oh, I'd rather play ball than garden", said the grand prize winner of the school garden contest, but just the same 12 year old Clinton Conner, 240 Walter avenue, showed his skill and patience by having one of the finest gardens in Mansfield, according to judges of the recent competition.

Clinton is a three time winner in school graden contests, so was ineligible this year as a medal winner. Because of his outstanding achievement, continued interest and garden improvement, the Mansfield Garden Club will award him with special recognition.

Each school's winner was announced this week, by the chairman Mrs. James Eberly. She was assisted by Mrs. Otis Cummins, Mrs. J. R. Clemens and Mrs. Oliver Henkel, all members of the Johnny Appleseed Garden Club.

Two hundred and 15 youngsters in the grade schools participated this year, which is more than double the number last year. Eleven schools were entered and the winners will receive a medal from the National Garden Institute of America and $1. cash from the Mansfield School board, from the General Roeliff Brinkerhoff garden fund.

More than a quarter of a century ago General Brinkerhoff left a fund to the local school board to be used to encourage the love of gardening among school children. This competition has been carried on almost yearly since that time, with the cooperation of the Mansfield Garden Club and other more recent garden groups.

This year the contest was sponsored by the Johnny Appleseed Garden Club, with the help of the other local garden clubs and the PTA groups.

There was a first winner from each school as well as other winners. $1 will be given this year to 77 boys and girls. Bowman school had the largest number of gardens, 33 in all. Ten clubs, each having two judges, visited the 215 gardens in the city.

Winner for Carpenter school was nine year old Carol Jennings, 261 Walter avenue, who time garden was as dainty as a little girl. A neat little wire fence surrounded the small plot which was there, she said, "to keep those neighbor kids out." Each row was as clean as a whistle and neat as a pin. There was a row of tomatoes, carrots, beans and other vegetables and dainty rows of flowers. This was her first attempt at gardening.

Another outstanding garden was that of 10 year old William Franta, Concord avenue, who also was trying his luck at gardening for the first time.

He even tried potatoes, besides many other healthy looking vegetables. The garden was colorful with a border of beautiful flowers. He is a pupil at Hedges school.

Winner at Bushnell school was 11 year old Carol Dorner, 342 East Fourth street, who had her first garden this year. She cared for carrots, tomatoes, beans, lettuce, radishes, onions and sunflowers.

Denny Bertka, 416 West Fourth street, was winner at West Fifth street school. He is nine and had his first garden. Russell Minch, 211 Fairlawn, was judged the winner for Rebecca Grubaugh school. He is an eight year old and has had a garden for the past three years. First winner for Prospect was Sharon Brubaker, 458 South Main street, eight years of age, who entered the competition for the second year.

A light and delicious summer desser is made by poaching meringues in hot milk, then using the milk to make a soft custard sauce. Serve with sliced sweetened peaches.

SKIN GOES INTO THE BIG STRETCH

By BETTY CLARKE
Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

To stretch or not to stretch skin always has been a controversial subject. Some doctors and cosmeticians claim that stretching skin and muscles of the face and throat will help keep skin young and flexible, improve texture and color and firm the contour. Others say no.

Of course, facial exercises alone cannot improve your complexion. You also must observe the basic principles of correct cleansing. That means thorough cleansing at least twice a day.

Use a mild complexion soap that does not irritate. There are mildly medicated soaps which are highly effective in clearing up blackheads and pimples. In the case of such skin disturbances you may safely use an emollient ointment containing sulphurated petrolatum and oxyquinoline, suggest skin doctors.

The Esther Class of the Mayflower Congregational church held a picnic on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Carl Stough, Blanche street. Mrs. F. R. Barrett served as associate hostess. The 6 o'clock supper was served at a long table in the yard with places laid for 14.

A grief business session was in charge of Mrs. Albert Frank, at which time a rummage sale was discussed to be held in the fall. A cash donation was voted for the church.

Plans were made to hold a birthday party for the members on Aug. 31 with Mrs. Harry Adams, Ninth avenue, hostess. The next regular meeting will take place Sept. 14 at the home of Mrs. Fred Schnurer, North Mulberry street, with Mrs. T. A. Reader as associate hostess.

LUCAS — When members of the Lucas Community Garden Club met Tuesday night in the new home of Mrs. C. N. Rummel, they brought along comic individual gifts and a group gift of linen as a surprise "housewarming" shower. Mrs. E. Dean Byerly was the assistant hostess.

Miss Effie Dome presented a paper on "Flower Arrangements," a subject in which she is recognized as the club authority.

Program booklets for the coming year were distributed by the program committee: Mrs. Ellsworth Secrest, Miss Dome and Mrs. Byerly. The club year begins in September, with the traditional fall harvest show the concluding event in the club year. This year the show will be held at the Lucas school Saturday, August 27.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses to 23 members and two guests: Mrs. John Banks, of Canton, and Mrs. Carrie Zediker, of Lucas. The September 13 meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Roy Culler.

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE
For Saturday, August 13

It is probable that affairs of diversion, relaxation or gaiety may engage the energies and attention over this midsummer weekend, with rich promise of lively and happy condition in which home, family and romantic pursuits dominate the activities. However, there is a sordid note to negative such pleasant relations with an ignoble twinge of jealousy, treachery or subtle deception calling for alert and tactful management. Meet such with tact, discretion and graciousness rather than strife.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may look for a pleasant and lively state of affairs, with home, romantic, cultural as well as business interests in connection with such objectives. Maintain this benign condition, sidestepping sordid darts of enmity, jealousy and strife or other sinister or treacherous developments. Keep alert to avert sorrow and recrimination from home, family and love affairs.

Do You Know How To Buy Fish?

Have you heard the story about the young English girl in America who went into a meat market and asked the clerk for a pound of chopped beef for a meat loaf. When he came back with the ground beef and held it out for her to see, she looked at all the little cirlicues of meat and with a very puzzled look asked, "Is that chopped beef—for a meat loaf?" He assured her it was and her only reply was, "I didn't picture it like that at all."

Now this young girl knew what to order but didn't know what it would look like. Sometimes a shopper runs into the reverse problem. She may know what the food she wants looks like but may not know what to call it. This often happens with fish, so brush up on the ways fish are marketed, here's a chart. And to serve a wonderful fish dish, try this recipe for baked fish.

DRESSED FISH are scaled and eviscerated (which means the entrails are removed), usually with the head, tail and fins removed. If you prefer to have the head and tail left on, tell the fish man so.

FISH STEAKS are cross section slices of the larger sizes of dressed fish. They are ready to cook as purchased.

FISH FILLETS are the sides of the fish, cut lengthwise away from the backbone. They are practically boneless and require no preparation for cooking.

BAKED FISH

3 or 4 pound fish, dressed
1½ teaspoons salt
Cucumber stuffing
4 tablespoons butter or other fat, melted.

Wash and dry the fish. Sprinkle inside and out with salt. Stuff fish loosely and sew the opening with needle and string, or close with skewers. Place fish in a greased baking pan. Brush with melted fat. Bake in a moderate over (350 degrees F.) for 40 to 60 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. If fish seems dry while baking, baste occasionally with drippings or melted fat. Remove string or skewers and serve immediately on a hot platter plain or with a sauce. Serves 6.

CUCUMBER STUFFING

3 tablespoons chopped cucumbers.
¾ cup celery, chopped
6 tablespoons butter melted
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon thyme, oregano or poultry seasoning
4 cups day-old bread crumbs
1 teaspoon salt.

Mix cucumbers, celery and butter. Add seasonings and bread crumbs, and mix thoroughly. If dressing seems very dry, add 2 tablespoons water, milk or fish stock to moisten.

* * *

OVEN FRIED FILLETS

2 pounds frozen fish fillets
1 tablespoon salt
1 cup milk
1 cup bread crumbs
4 tablespoons butter or other fat, melted

Cut fillets into serging - size portions. Add the salt to the milk and mix. Dip the fish in the milk and roll in crumbs: place in well greased baking pan. Pour melted fat over fish. Place pan on shelf near the top of a very hot oven (500 degrees F.) and bake 10 to 12 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Serve immediately on a hot platter, plain or with a sauce. Serves 6.

STUFFED FILLETS

2 fillets, frozen
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
Bread stuffing
4 tablespoons butter, melted
3 slices bacon

Sprinkle both sides of fillets with salt and pepper. Place one fillet skin side up in a well greased baking pan. Place stuffing on the fish and cover with the remaining fillet. Fasten together with toothpicks or skewers. Brush top with melted butter and lay slices of bacon on top. Bake in a moderate over (350 degrees F.) for 30 to 40 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Remove carefully to a hot platter, take out fasteners, garnish and serve hot with a sauce. Serves 6.

BREAD STUFFINN

1½ tablespoons onions, chopped
½ cup celery, chopped
3 tablespoons butter or other fat, melted
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon thyme, sage or savory seasoning
½ cup day-old bread crumbs

Cook the celery and onions in the melted fat for about 10 minutes, or until tender. Add the cooked vegetables and seasonings to the bread crumbs, and mix thoroughly. If dressing seems very dry, add 2 tablespoons water, milk or fish stock to moisten.

Cabbage Salad—Cool, Crisp And An Easy Dish To Make

Crisp as starched white organdy, cool as a sea breeze and good as you'd ever want, is cool, crisp cole slaw of a summer's day. It's the perfect dish to carry outside to the barbecue to serve with hot dogs and hamburgers. And when dad comes home proudly showing off a string of fresh-caught fish, cabbage slaw is the perfect accompaniment to enhance his delectable contribution — adding as it does, a spicy piquancy.

Actually, there's hardly a recipe for cole slaw — because with shredded cabbage as a base, the salad can be as varied as m'lady's ingenuity. She can add chopped cucumber, radishes, young green onion tops, or young carrots. And even the dressing may be varied by using mayonnaise one time, French dressing another, sour cream still another or for a really novel touch, sweet cream spiced with horseradish and lemon juice.

But regardless of ingredients or dressing, the triple-smart gal will be sure that she makes her cabbage salad with a tripie-bladed, spring-action food chopper that you can find in any store selling housewares. It makes a wonderfully fine shredded slaw chop-chop easy and quicker than that.

Here's a basic recipe for this treat — serve it often and try varying it each time.

CABBAGE COLE SLAW

1 medium-sized cabbage
2 medium onions
3 small carrots
1 green pepper
½ cup sweet pickles
½ cup cole slaw dressing

Place cabbage on a board and QUARTER. Turn each piece with cut side up and shred by using two blades of triple - bladed, spring-action chopper, working from the points in. Peel onions, scrape carrots and clean green pepper. Place in chopping bowl and chop medium coarse with chopper. Add pickles and chop until mixture is medium fine. Place in bowl with shredded cabbage. Add dressing and toss lightly. Serve well chilled. Serves 4 to 6.

Fresh green beans which are now in season add a springlike touch to your menus. In buying them select those which have clean, firm, crisp pods that are tender enough to snap readily when broken. Green beans are an excellent source of vitamin A.

N-J Tennis Tourney to Open Saturday

Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

AKRON—This being one of the 148 Soap Box Derby champions really agrees with Jimmy Mitchell, the 12-year-old Crestline youth who is representing Mansfield in the national Soap Box Derby. . . . Jimmy has gained seven pounds since the Mansfield News-Journal competition three weeks ago. . . . And Jimmy has some very definite ideas on what to do with the top prizes if he pilots his sleek black coaster into one of the top spots. . . . Of course, he wants the $5,000 four-year college scholarship. . . . But the 1949 Chevrolet second-place prize would set alright with the smiling blonde youngster. . . . The Chevy would go to his brother, says Jimmy. . . . Then he would take his brother's older model car and sell same. . . . With the profit, Jimmy would buy a motor scooter for himself. . . . That's one thing about the young fellow. . . . He always thinks of his brother when prizes are passed out. . . . In 1948, Jimmy gained a wrist watch as one of his prizes for winning the Class B championship in the Mansfield Derby. . . . That watch is also ticketed for "big brother." . . . Jimmy won't be left out, however. . . . He will get a brand spanking new watch for being Mansfield's official representative in what promises to be the best national Derby in 12 tries.

★

NUMBERS were assigned all cars as they arrived. . . . Mitchell's "News - Journal Special" will carry the number "83" in Sunday's race. . . . The honor of carrying the No. 1 on the side of his racer went, as usual, to the Akron entrant—Fred Derks, 15. . . . No. 150 went to Robert Brumage, 14, Zanesville. . . . The numbers were assigned in alphabetical order, according to towns.

★

HUNDREDS of newsmen are attending the affair. . . . Most of them are Derby "veterans." . . . Their primary objective is the youngsters competing in the nationals . . . But many of the sports scribes are also taking a "busman's holiday." . . . They want to see the Cleveland Indians in action and the Tribe is at home. . . . For most, it will be their only chance to see a major league contest. . . . Unless they grab a choice assignment in covering the world series.

★

FLORIDA has a Soap Box champion competing for the first time. . . . The youngster is Edward S. Moore, representing The Evening Independent of St. Petersburg. . . . To herald the approach of Eddie, the "St. Pete" paper sent along copies of its 40-page souvenir program. . . . The "paper" includes pix of all of the Florida Derby contestants and is chuck full of other interesting data. . . . This souvenir should induce other Florida cities to get on the bandwagon of one of the country's top amateur sporting events.

★

A CLINIC for newsmen turned into quite a debate. . . . All of the arguing had to do with the use of power tools in constructing coasters. . . . Many representatives felt that using all types of power tools would make for better racers. . . . Others felt that use of simple tools would do more to increase the number of competitors. . . . Final decision will not be made until later. . . . The rule books for the 1950 competition have been promised for December delivery to give youthful pilot-designers an early opportunity to begin construction of their coasters.

★

THIS HAS NOTHING to do with the Derby but we heard it someplace. . . . It seems in one of the southern pro baseball leagues a catcher threw high on a throw to third base as one of the opposition tried to pilfer third base. . . . The base runner trotted home and the "umps" called him out. . . . The catcher had the ball in his glove all the time. . . . Then the umpire called the runner safe. . . . The catcher had thrown a potato into left. . . . After the decision, the catcher asked the ump if there was a rule against throwing a potato. . . . So far we've heard no decision on the subject.

Four Classes Open Play On First Day

The News-Journal city tennis tournament—embracing its biggest field in history—will begin eliminations in four of its six classes with a full schedule of matches tomorrow.

Well over a hundred entries were sorted and paired last night by tournament manager Watty Slaybaugh and starting times set. Singles for men, boys, women, and girls will all begin eliminations tomorrow with the men's doubles playing its first round Sunday.

Barring rain, all classes except the women's doubles will have played their first round by nightfall Sunday. All matches will be played at the Woodland club clay courts at the corner of Woodhill road and Andover.

Times were set up for all matches but entrants will be allowed changes for legitimate reasons. Players unable to appear at the time designated may change the time by calling Tom Bloor at the Woodland club, 5377-6.

Rain Saturday would automatically move Saturday's schedule to Sunday, with the Sunday schedule to be set up by Bloor later in the week.

Trophies will be awarded winners in all divisions by the News-Journal.

95,000 To See All-Star Football Game At Chicago

CHICAGO—(INS)—A glittering array of 1948 college all-stars, twinkling with the spark of a "new" offensive, clash tonight with the National Football league champion Philadelphia Eagles in Chicago's Soldier Field.

Ninety-five thousand football fans are expected to brave the heat and perhaps showers to see this 16th annual all-star-pro game in which the eagles have been made 10-point favorites.

Opposition to the oddsmakers' forecast, however, came from Eagles Coach Earle (Greasy) Neale. It wasn't that Neale feared any single member of the all-stars but he was extremely doubtful about that axiom concerning safety in numbers.

Coach Charles (Bud) Wilkinson has a squad of more than 70 all-stars and this wealth of football material could very well be an important factor in the game.

The temperature in Chicago has been over 90 degrees for the past week. A continuance of this type of weather would make it necessary for both sides to substitute frequently.

But Neale claims that he will have to rely on 16 players for the greatest part of the contest.

The split-T has been hailed as revolutionary. One of Wilkinson's assistants, Bobby Dodds of Georgia Tech, predicted that coaches all over the nation will adopt the formation after the all-stars use it in their battle with the pros.

Luke Easter Brings .363 Mark To Tribe

CLEVELAND — (UP) — Manager Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland Indians today designated Luke Easter, former San Diego Padre first baseman to a pinch-hitter's role.

Easter was purchased last night from the Padres for an undisclosed sum. Allie Clark, an outfielder, has been optioned to the Padres to make room for Easter.

A front office spokesman said Easter was purchased because he is a long ball hitter. "Our long ball hitters who carried us to the pennant last year haven't been able to find the range this year, and President Bill Veeck feels Easter will give us the power we need in the pinches," he said.

Easter made his first Major league appearance in the eighth inning of last night's game with Chicago and grounded out.

On the Pacific coast Easter was hitlin .363 with 25 home runs before he suffered a knee injury early in July. He was brought to the Cleveland clinic for an operation and has been here since then recuperating. He started workouts with the Indians two days ago.

Gaubatz Leads Herman Loop

Dick Gaubatz shot a two-over par 36 to edge Steve Stirtzinger by a stroke in the feature match of the Sons of Herman Golf League at Cooiridge yesterday evening.

Presidents lead the league with 31½ points, followed by Trustees, 30; Bartenders, 21½, Membership, 19½ Guards, 18½; Managers, 12½, Treasurers, 11½, and Janitors, 8½.

Indians and Red Sox Gain on Yankees

Tribe Uses 20 Men In Edging White Sox

By JOE REICHLER, AP Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians have hit upon a sure-fire pennant formula—extra inning games. The only trouble is they can't get the opposing teams to go along with them as often as they would like.

The tribe is in second place today, four and a half games behind the pace-setting New York Yankees, but they're easily the overtime champions.

Including last night's marathon with the Chicago White Sox, the Indians have played 14 games that went beyond the ninth inning this season. They've won 13 of them.

It took the world champions three hours and 45 minutes, 20 of their 24 available players—including six pitchers—and 12 innings to subdue the Pale Hose, 6-5. And then it was an infield error that did it.

The victory gave Cleveland a 6-5 edge in games this season with Manager Jack Onslow's club. Three of the five still to be played here are tonight, Saturday and a Sunday doubleheader. Early Wynn, one of the four who didn't play last night, will pitch tonight, seeking his 10th victory.

The game was one the Tribe had to win to keep its one-game lead over the third-place Boston Red Sox, regarded by many as a more serious threat than the first-place New York Yankees who have a 4½ game lead.

The Red Sox helped tighten the race by knocking off the Yankees, 7-6, in regulation nine innings. A single by Bobby Doerr in the last half of the sixth scored Ted Williams from second, broke up a 6-6 deadlock, and cut New York's margin over the third place Sox to five and a half games.

Williams hammered his 29th home run and added a couple of singles besides a base on balls.

Joe DiMaggio accounted for the first three Yankee runs with a home run over the left field screen, with two mates aboard.

After overcoming a 5-3 deficit with two runs in the eighth, Cleveland won in the 12th when Chicago Second Baseman Cass Michaels threw wildly to first in an attempt to complete a double play. Johnny Berardino scored from second on the error. Bob Feller, last of six Cleveland hurlers, was awarded the victory, his 11th and fifth straight.

Brooklyn broke a four-day deadlock for first place in the National league with St. Louis, by outslugging the Philadelphia Phils, 10-7. The victory put the Dodgers a half game up on the Cardinals, who were idle.

A home run by Pee Wee Reese with two mates aboard in the top of the eighth, snapped a 7-7 tie. A pair of four baggers by Catcher Andy Seminick had kept the Phils in the game up to then.

Pittsburgh defeated the Chicago Cubs, 3-2, in the rubber tilt of their three-game series. A single by Stan Rojek followed by Johnny Hopp's triple and Ralph Kiner's fly gave the Bucs two runs in the eighth.

The New York Giants and Boston Braves had to settle for a 7-7 tie when rain halted proceedings in the last half of the eighth.

Adrian Zabala, Giant pitcher, took sick during the fifth inning and was taken to a hospital. It was learned he was pitching with a fever of 101.

All other teams enjoyed a day off.

Haeffner's 66 Leads Tam Golfers

CHICAGO — (AP) — Clayton Heafner, 240 - pound Charlotte, N. C., pro was burning up the trail to golf's biggest bonanza today with a one - stroke lead entering the second round of the Tam O'Shanter 35,200 "world" championship.

Heafner grabbed the brass ring yesterday with a sizzling six - under - par 66 for a slight edge over two other seasoned campaigners, Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., and Henry Ransom, the transplanted Texan now in Chicago.

Palmer and Ransom each banged 67's. In all, 29 pros broke par 72 to set a terrific opening round pace in the chase for the $10,000 first prize.

So hot was the rivalry that Lloyd Mangrum's dismal 76 all but knocked him out of contention.

Another favorite, Sam Snead, runner - up to Mangrum in the all - American competition, also skidded. Sambo's regulation par 72 left him stranded in a tie for 30th place.

Four players were grouped at 68 in the tightly-packed start of the 72 - hole scramble for golf's largest jackpot. They were Jim Ferrier, Ed Fergol, Jim Turnesa, and Dick Metz.

In the three other sections of promoter George May's golf jubilee, the leaders stacked up this way:

Women's amateur — 19 - year - old Alice Bauer of Los Angeles with even par 76, and Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., Marlene Bauer, Alice's 15 - year - old sister, and Grace Lenczyk, the national amateur champion from Hartford, Conn., — all with 78's.

Women's professional — Patty Berg and Babe Zaharias with 74 apiece, and Louise Suggs with 80.

Men's amateur — Frank Kovack of Waukegan, Ill., with 70 and Walter Cisco of Louisville, Ky., with 71. Defending "world" amateur champion Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., ballooned to 76 while Frank Stranahan winner of the all-American amateur honors Tuesday, soared to 78.

Champions Play Cleveland East

Mansfield's two state championship Hot Stove league teams will get an opportunity to show their class to a tough outside opponent tomorrow and Sunday when they play the Cleveland East Side Merchants.

The Merchants, made of players in the 13-14 year age group, will play Mansfield Ohio Sport Center, 13-14 state champions tomorrow and the Police Recreation, 15-16 year old state champs Sunday. Both games will start at 2:30 p. m. and be played at Liberty park.

Cleveland made a similar trip here last summer and was beaten by the Police team.

KEN GETS TIPS—Among the Mansfield athletes who got some baseball tips and a shrewd looking-over at the Cardinals' baseball school yesterday was Ken McCally. McCally is being given some pointers on the catcher's stance by Cardinal scout Bob Kline while Buck McKeever and Larry Secrist look on. (News-Journal staff photo)

Open Tourney At Blue Goose

The Central Ohio junior league baseball tournament will get under way tomorrow at Blue Goose park with two games Lexington is to meet Madison at 1:30 p. m. while Lucas and Mansfield AC battle at 3:30.

Two games Sunday will crown the champion. Ashland is to meet the Lucas - Mansfield AC winner in the first game with the winner of that game facing either Madison or Lexington.

A trophy will be presented to the champions.

Office Cafe Nine Beats Myers, 12-8

Mansfield Office Cafe defeated Myers Pump of Ashland, 12-8, in a softball game at Ashland last night. A nine-run third inning gave Ofice Cafe a seven-run lead and it coasted to an easy win.

The Mansfield team scored its 12 runs on only eight hits. Ken Berry got two of the Office Cafe hits in two official trips to the plate.

District Joust Rained Out, Reset Saturday

The six remaining teams in the district softball tournament were given an additional two days of rest as rain washed out last night's scheduled two-game program at Gorman-Rupp field.

The games, which would have completed quarter-final play, were re-set for tomorrow with the semi-finals moved back to Monday and finals to next Wednesday.

Marion Smitty's Grill, the only "outsider" still left in the tournament, was leading Mansfield Sons of Herman, 2-1, at the end of three and one-half innings when last night's game was halted. The rain had actually started in the first inning but the game had continued until the field became too slippery for safety.

HOME RUN

Sons of Herman got its only score on a long home run to left center field by Bob Kanz in the second inning. It was the only hit off "Fats" Millisor, the veteran Marion twirler.

Smitty's came back for two in the third on a single by Mulvaine, error by Rob Kanz, a walk to Paulus and two-bagger by Anderson. Pitcher Dick Kanz got Wilcox to fly out and after the Mansfield nine had its bat the game was halted.

The two teams will begin all over again at 8 p. m. tomorrow at Gorman-Rupp field. Farm Tools and Westinghouse collide in the second game at 9:30.

Semi-finals, scheduled for Monday night, will pair Gorman-Rupp with Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the winners of tomorrow night's game against each other.

Church Loop Finals Set August 18

The First Congregational and Park avenue Baptist softball teams last night won places in the finals of the second round of the Mansfield church league. The two teams will meet on Aug. 18 to determine the second round champion.

First Congregational edged St. Matthew's, 2-1, in one of the semi-final games played at Prospect park. A St. Matthew's rally in the seventh inning netted only one run to fall just short of tying up the pitcher's battle.

Park Avenue Baptist led all the way in defeating First Presbyterian, 4-2, at Johns park in the other semi-final game. Shortstop Chuck Burton cracked a home run for the winners.

Rangers Use Pads For First Time

The Mansfield Rangers wasted little time in putting their newly-distributed pads to use last night as they ran through a 40-minute contact scrimmage at Tappan field.

Coaches Jim Lymper and Ed Stacco expressed pleasure with the condition of the squad but announced that they would welcome more candidates, particularly in the backfield and tackle positions.

The team will work out in the outfield grass of Liberty park next week where more space is available for passing drills.

Ohio Sport Center, of the Mansfield Hot Stove League, walloped the Ashland Whiz Kids, 12-5 at Myers Field in Ashland.

Queen Helen Abdicates

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, the acknowledged "queen" of the tennis courts, met her first defeat in seven years at the Women's Singles finals in Forest Hills, N. Y., in August 1933. Mrs. Moody had entered the tournament against the advice of her physicians and had played 3 gruelling sets against Miss Helen Jacobs when she was forced to default to her opponent because of the intense pain from a previous spinal injury. Her right leg had become so affected that she was unable to return strokes hit to her right side.

Miss Jacobs, who had failed in 9 previous attempts to defeat Mrs. Moody was not happy in her present victory and did her best to induce Mrs. Moody to continue the game—but it was impossible. Mrs. Moody had also expected to play in the Doubles Match with Elizabeth Ryan as her partner against the English finalists, Betty Nuthall and Frieda James but her plans had to be cancelled. After posing for photographers, the beaten Queen left the stadium with the sympathies of the 6,000 disappointed spectators.

Your car needn't abdicate with pains, rattles and coughs . . . just drive into Brandenburg's modern and complete Service Department. Our staff of highly trained mechanics will have it back in the "game," as good as new before you know it. Guaranteed, too.

The Charleston, Mad Dance of The Twenties, Is Coming Back

NEW YORK—Junior, get papa the kneecap oil—the Charleston's coming back.

What's the Charleston?

Why, son, the Charleston is the granddaddy of the jitterbug. Back in the mid-1920s, when everybody had to take shower baths because the tub was full of hand-made prohibition gin, you couldn't even deposit money in the bank unless you proved you could do the Charleston. It showed you were alive.

Do I mean it was a dance? Junior, no dance every hit the country as hard as the Charleston. It was THE dance. If a man wasn't willing to shimmy-shammy back and forth and then risk his right tarsal bone by throwing it over his left femur, he was strictly a cad out of tune with his time.

Everybody did it. La Belle Joan Crawford started her fame as a dramatic actress as a result of a fancy prize - winning, hip Charleston movement. And Ginger Rogers was able to get her independence from Independence, Mo., because of the same swivel swing. Later some movie critic mentioned that both girls had sparkling eyes. This was a sad discovery.

It changed them from hoofer into actresses. And after that a gal covers up her legs, exposes her bosoms like a half-shucked corncob, and begins emoting about socially significant themes she doesn't know from dime store jewelry.

But to get back to the Charleston . . . Charleston . . . a simple, primitive, agile movement based some distance below the bust:

"So many young people have come in wanting to dance the Charleston that I have had to teach it to all our instructors," said Charles Columbus, dance director of the Fred Astaire studios here.

Columbus says the dance originated among South Carolina Negroes. He can trace the sequence from the Charleston down through "the Varsity Drag, the Shag, Truckin', the Lindy Hop, and Jitterbugging." But it leaves him a little leg weary — when he demonstrates.

"There was nothing like the Charleston for popularity," Columbus said. "They danced it in the living rooms, the kitchens, the back porch, and standing up in rumble seats.

"It's popularity now is part of the current revival of old tunes. They show it in the movies with the music of that time — and people want to dance it again.

"But it is really a dance for people from 12 years old to 35. The people who used to enjoy it don't want it anymore, generally. They feel it is too undignified. Their bones are older."

Columbus thinks the American public is more dance crazy now than it has ever been. The pupils, he said, range from Eleanor Roosevelt, a longtime patron of the dance, down to gangsters.

"The gangsters," he said, "specialize in the rumba. The rumba is a showoff dance. It makes a man feel he is somebody."

Mrs. Roosevelt, incidentally, is strictly a conservative ballroom dancer. She hasn't come in to freshen up her Charleston — if she ever danced it.

"But we're also teaching the Castle Walk and the Bunny Hug again," said Columbus. "Anything to exercise the feet — and the memory."

Involved Tale of Stolen Bonds Tells How Cheaters Are Cheated

Here's a new tale of cheating cheaters by playing on the larceny in the souls of men: A guest at one of the better mid-town hotels, instead of accepting the individual safety-box available to any patron, turned in $200,000 worth of U. S. bonds, asked that they be counted in his sight and a receipt be issued to him.

The house dick ("security officer") was notified, and he took down the numbers of the negotiable securities. He consulted his "flashers" (circulars on stolen paper) and discovered the bonds had been filched in Cincinnati, years ago.

The FBI was notified and soon revealed that, while the numbers were the same, the bonds were not—they were counterfeit. And they were not the first phonies bearing those same numbers. Others had turned up in various states and abroad.

The con-game is this: A band of thieves gets the serial numbers of "hot" bonds, prints them on "queer" copies, then hooks suckers who are shown the genuine "flasher," and who are offered these "hot" securities at a comparatively low price.

A citizen without a record could hold them until the hunt wears off and cash them in one by one in hick banks, or take them to South America, Mexico, Belgium, Switzerland or other countries that have some U. S. dollars, and put them through.

The owner of the bonds, who thought them bona fide, was recognized as a "shover" of spurious currency. Oh, no—he hadn't counterfeited the bonds—he had bought them "in good faith"—with counterfeit cash!

The customs check here of The Grille, one - time Hitler yacht, according to official sources, was no more drastic than the search of every foreign vessel entering New York harbor—and every plane and train crossing any border into the U. S. Nothing contraband of any nature was found.

The ship is the private property of George Arida, a rich textile merchant of the Near East, who is the British consul at Tripoli and Lebanon, and who was recently decorated by King George. The Grille left for Washington, where she is in dry dock for overhauling.

Right off the ice—Sonja Henie, on television, insisted she has no romantic attachment. That is outright calumny on columnists . . . Now it's Dr. John Duzik who's linked with June Haver. . . The St. Regis Hotel, by special dispensation, lifted the ban on dogs for Marie Wilson. . . Marta Toren is seeing the New York sights with attorney Harold Schiff. . . Bill Eythe is on view with Hazel Roy.

Liz Whitney sailed her yacht up the Hudson and anchored above Albany, so she and her guests can have luxury quarters and easy transportation for the Saratoga season.

An officer and a gentleman: Gen. Mark Clark, on his 25th wedding anniversary, arose and raised his glass to Mrs. Clark, with the toast—"To the five-star wife of a four - star soldier!"

Rain Not Expected To Halt Festival

Three hundred watermelons were on ice and 160 cakes were in the oven this morning for the annual festival at Johns park, scheduled to start at 5 p. m. today.

This morning's heavy shower was not expected to halt plans for the annual watermelon feast, according to park officials. Unless it rans late today, arrangements will go ahead as planned.

Monkey Recovering From Traffic Hurts

Roscoe's Name's Just a Fooler

By BILL HERRING

Roscoe, Ashland's wandering simian, is a girl monkey.

Her name doesn't mean a thing. Stanley Phillips, Roscoe's owner, just wanted to call her Roscoe and that's all there was to it.

"I paid $35 for Roscoe in a Columbus pet shop three weeks ago so I guess I'm entitled to name her — even though my neighbors call her Minnie the Moocher," Phillips explained. "Roscoe is a green monkey, the shop owners said."

"Roscoe eats continually, "Phillips explained. "Cucumbers and sweet corn on the cob are prime favorites with carrots, celery and raw potatoes other choice morsels. She relishes cracked corn. However, Roscoe took a meat sandwich from a 10 - year - old neighbor girl last week and scampered off to enjoy the feast."

DOGS LIKE CHASE

Dogs are terrifying to the monkey, the owner stated. The canines in the Phillips neighborhood keep hoping Roscoe escapes again so the chase can be resumed.

Roscoe proved herself an actress. After placing a rag on her head and dancing around joyously Roscoe took off after a dog. "Roscoe really turned the tables on that dog," Phillips recounted smilingly.

The first escape occurred when the monkey, frightened by a dog, jumped on Phillips' shoulder and unsnapped the rope leash. After a four-day hunt Roscoe was trapped in a nearby filling station.

The next day, Roscoe again fled the Phillips backyard. While exploring Ashland's mysteries a truck ran over Roscoe. Dr. A. L. Miller, Ashland veterinarian, found he could avoid amputating the fractured left leg so placed it in a cast. The cut over the monkey's eye was held in place by five clamps but four of these irritating contraptions have been pulled off by Roscoe.

"Roscoe, like most animals, is afraid of strangers," Phillips said. "But once an acquaintance is established, Roscoe gets real friendly."

Phillips is a laborer employed by the F. L. Garber company, an Ashland printing firm.

NURSING WOUNDS—Roscoe, alias Minnie, Ashland's escape artist monkey, nurses injuries suffered when she was struck by a truck. Her left leg is in a cast and a cut over the right eye has been closed with a clamp. Her owner, Stanley Phillips, is confident Roesoe now will stick to her own backyard.

Lease Action Asks $5,000

Mrs. Elina Prinz, who operates a cafe at 55½ East Fourth street, yesterday was named in a cross-petition for $5,000, filed by Ned H. Schmitzer and Sam Plaia, who lease a storeroom from her.

She brought an action in common pleas court to break the lease, charging the defendants hadn't paid their rent for the barbershop and wasted electricity.

Schmitzer and Plaia deny most allegations in her petition and ask the $5,000 on grounds her conduct has annoyed their patrons and caused them to lose customers.

They contend they are paying more for water than the terms of the lease provide and that they tried to pay the rent, but she refused it.

It was any port in a storm this morning during the worst of the heavy downpour which flooded city streets and drenched those who ventured out. As an obvious last resort, one man on a downtown street was trying to shield himself from the rain with a small, plaid umbrella like those designed for little girls' use. The umbrella did little more than cover his head, and he finaly acknowledged defeat by ducking into a doorway to wait out the downpour.

Bond Set Pending Hearing

Williams Cited In City Court

William L. Williams, 46, of 110 West Fourth street, charged with assault and battery by his hospitalized wife, Blanche Williams, 43, pleaded innocent when he appeared in municipal court today.

He is being held under $1,000 bond for a hearing to be set after his wife is able to appear in court.

City Detective F. Bruce Friday informed Municipal Judge H. H. Schettler that Mrs. Williams' physician said she would be hospitalized for eight weeks.

She suffered a broken back and internal injuries, Friday said.

The affidavit signed by Mrs. Williams charged the injuries were a result of a beating by her husband last Sunday evening.

State highway patrolmen heard her screaming and notified city police.

Police found her in a car parked at Fifth and Walnut streets, and Williams was arrested. Mrs. Williams signed the affidavit charging her husband with assault and battery.

INVOLVED IN 2 ACTIONS

The Williams' have been involved in two common pleas actions, one of which is pending.

Mrs. Williams sued her husband for divorce on March 2, 1948, but last Feb. 11, had the case dismissed.

On the same day, she filed an action seeking alimony only, and obtained an order enjoining her husband from going in her home, following, molesting or communicating with her.

Williams then filed a cross-petition for divorce. In both cases, the grounds were neglect and cruelty.

Missed By Freight

Officers, who investigated, said Gale Boyce, Shiloh, R. D. 2, watchman at the crossing, told them he was ringing the bell and trying to get the gates down as the train came through the crossing. Perry, however, said he heard no bell.

Police said two trains passed through the crossing on July 17 while the gates were up and that they found the same watchman asleep.

Dave Whyte Now Manages Bellville Plant

BELLVILLE—Dave Whyte, of Mt. Vernon, has purchased the B. J. Dahlman interests in Bellville Foundries, Inc., and assumed the position of general manager and secretary-treasurer of the firm. M. C. Ross is president and Carl Dill is vice president.

Bellville Foundries this week resumed production on a large scale following three months of rather intermittent operation due to a lack of sufficient orders for castings.

Whyte was foundry superintendent of the Cooper-Bessemer company for 25 years and during World War II had charge of both the Grove City, Pa., and Mt. Vernon plants. For two years he operated his own foundry engineering company and did extensive traveling as a trouble shooter. Whyte has two married daughters and a son in the Army.

Whyte said the plant workers are on a four-day week but brighter business outlooks indicate a larger force on a five-day week.
